RAILWAYS INSIST GREATER FREEDOM OF ACTION MUST BE GIVEN THEM

Executives Assert They Can Surmount Present Difficulties if Existing Regulations Are Relaxed.

DEMAND FOR EQUAL OPPORTUNITY

Can't Have That, Their Statement Says, While Government Engages in or Subsidizes Competitive Transportation.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, July 20.—The Association of Railway Executives, meeting here today, declared in a statement that the carriers were not in favor of the Government, but would be "inured" to the present difficulties "if equality of opportunity" were given them.

In order to accomplish this, the executives said they considered "it essential, in addition to all that the roads may do for themselves, that the existing regulations of the Government be relaxed so as to restore freedom of managerial conduct."

While saying no governmental action would be sought, the rail leaders pointed out that it was necessary that "equality of freedom in all other methods of transportation" be given them.

"Obviously," it was added, "they cannot have such equality so long as the Government is engaged in or subsidizing any form of competitive transportation or so long as the roads are forbidden to engage in any other form of transportation."

If the desired "equal opportunity" is given the carriers, the statement explained, and they cannot demonstrate their ability to serve the public "at such rates as will under such conditions justify the public's need, and at the same time sustain their own financial integrity, they must expect to give way to more efficient agencies."

The executives point out that they are forbidden by law to raise rates until after 30 days' notice, are required to carry without prejudice all traffic offered in any manner between individual places.

"No such Federal restriction applies to carriers by water or by air," the statement asserted. "If, in the public interest, restrictions of the kind mentioned, among others, are necessary for the railroads, they would seem to be no less necessary for other transportation agencies."

The problem involved is not national interest, but touches the individual interests of every citizen. Its proper solution is of immediate importance. The rail executives therefore ask for the most serious consideration and the support of the public, to enable them to make adequate and efficient transportation service in every form may be maintained at the highest degree of equal opportunity for all."

ARTIST WHO MADE PRINTS OF TROTTERING HORSES DIES AT 100

Louis Maurer Got $12 a Week for Pictures for Currier and Ives.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, July 20.—Louis Maurer, who got $12 a week for creating sporting prints that made collectors scramble, is dead at the age of 100.

The "oldest American artist" and the last surviving member of Currier & Ives, "printmakers to the American people," died yesterday in his old brown stone house on West Forty-third street.

He did the famous series of prints on the "Life of a Fireman" and his pictures were credited with immortalizing famous American trotting horses. He lived to see great historical value on reproductions of his work for Currier & Ives, which once sold for 25 and 50 cents.

Some of his own reproductions brought $700 each, notably the portrait of the famous race horse Lexington.

Born in Biebrich-on-the-Rhine, he got his training as lithographer and carver of ivory in Germany before coming here in 1850 and getting a job with Currier & Ives at $12 a week.

FLYER RESCUED FROM JUNGLE, HELD IN COMPANION'S DEATH

Pan-American Airways Receives Word of Arrest of Clarence McElroy at San Gerónimo.

MEXICO CITY, July 20.—Pan-American Airways officials here today were informed Clarence McElroy, the American flyer who was lost in the jungle of Southern Mexico for nearly three weeks, had been arrested in the town of San Gerónimo, where he is recovering from the effects of his experience.

The charge, it was said, involves the death of Roy Gordon, an American of Tegucigalpa, Honduras. Gordon was killed when he was flying in which both were flying to Tegucigalpa crashed in the jungle.

When he was found 19 days later McElroy was on the verge of starvation. He told his rescuers that Gordon's body was under the wreckage of the plane where he had placed it to protect it from wild beasts and the weather.

McElroy, in a very weakened condition, has been resting several days at San Gerónimo. He is to be brought here by air when he is able to travel. The trip may be made Sunday.

NOW THE GOVERNORS MARCH ON WASHINGTON.
St. Louis, 67 years old, apparently by Robbers; Maled and Husband Sought.

By PAUL Y. ANDERSON,
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, July 20.—Tension between the authorities and the "bonus army" encamped here was heightened today by a series of incidents. Police dispersed one group which attempted to picket the White House, arresting three of its leaders. For several hours the area adjoining the White House was closed to pedestrian and vehicular traffic, with squads of patrolmen and detectives manning every corner.

The determination of the authorities to get the veterans out of Washington was reflected in the mounting sternness of the police, and a gradual shutting off of supplies. Nevertheless, figures made public at the marchers' headquarters by billing officers purported to show that 23,674 persons are still registered in the various camps, and that the number of departures has been more than offset by new arrivals.

Internal dissension aggravated the leaders' worries, and apparently was being encouraged by the police as one means of breaking down the "army's" morale. In addition to the main body, or so-called "bonus expeditionary force," commanded by Walter W. Waters, and encamped in the Anacostia Flats, there are two other substantial groups. One is the California outfit headed by Roy Robertson, which pickedet the Capitol last week and now calls itself "the march of death bonus league," and the other is a "radical" group, led by John Pace of Detroit.

Chief Threatens Raid.
Waters yesterday ordered the "B. E. F." commissary department to cease distributing food and supplies to Robertson's and Pace's outfits. He said they had refused to join the main body of unemployed veterans, and that since they insisted on maintaining separate organizations they would have to get their own supplies.

When Chief of Police Glassford learned of this, he announced that supplies donated by the Red Cross and himself would be distributed among all the groups, if it became necessary to raid the B. E. F. commissary.

Waters, addressing a mass meeting of his followers today said that "any order of yesterday still stands, and will not be revoked. Anyone attempting to raid our commissary—regardless of who it is—will take our food out only over my dead body."

Although police and Veterans' Bureau estimates of the number of marchers remaining in the capital were much lower than those announced by the men themselves, it was apparent that not less than seven or eight thousand men, women and children were still billeted on the scorching, sun-baked flats beside the Anacostia River, in addition to hundreds if not thousands encamped among the ruins of wrecked buildings along Pennsylvania avenue and elsewhere in the central part of the city. The food problem was acute.

"Just enough to keep body and soul together and never more than two meals ahead of starvation," was the way a commissary officer described the situation.

Air Trips to Solicit Food.
It was learned that the object of Waters' constant airplane trips to New York, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, and other large nearby cities, is to solicit free supplies, mainly from large manufacturing, wholesale and processing plants. These, together with miscellaneous donations, have kept the "army" going, but consignments from all sources have been dwindling.

There has been a pronounced change in the attitude of the police since Saturday. While Congress was in session the veterans were permitted to picket the Capitol with only minor instances of molestation, but when they turned their attention to the White House they encountered prompt and severe resistance the first example occurring Saturday midnight, and the second this morning, when about 100 members of Pace's band attempted to "exercise their constitutional right to walk past the White House."

Denied a permit to parade, they told Chief Glassford that they purposed walking past the White House in their capacity as "individual citizens." He replied that he would deal with incidents as they arose.

Pace and Aide in Jail.
Pace and two of his lieutenants, Beckworth Johnson and Walter P. Elker, were still in jail tonight. Bond for all three was set at $15,000, but no one had appeared to get them out. They were arraigned after a scuffle with police.

FIXING INTEREST ON RELIEF LOANS IS R. F. C. PROBLEM

Bill Provides 3 Per Cent but Special Provision Is Made for Public Works Program.

12 STATES SEEKING TWO-THIRDS OF FUND

Policy Used for Railroads of Only Meeting Immediate Needs Likely to Be Followed.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, July 20.—Fixing the rate of interest to be paid by states, municipalities and private firms obtaining loans from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation under the relief act remained today the biggest point to be settled in administration of the Government's unemployment aid plan.

The President, expected yesterday to put his name to the new enactment, had not signed it late today. He was allowing ample time to map out reorganization of the corporation's board before making the bill law.

The rate to be paid was a question featuring frequent inquiries at the corporation's offices. The bill fixed interest on loans to states and municipalities for relief of destitution at 3 per cent. The rate for loans for public works and to banks, private corporations and railroads is left up to the directors.

Under the old reconstruction finance act the corporation directors fixed interest rates at 6 per cent for railroads and 5 1/2 per cent for banks.

Loans for Public Works.
One provision of the new act was taken today as meaning states will be in position to obtain very favorable interest rates. In providing loans for public works the measure specifies that the corporation to bid for state bonds.

The section providing for destitution loans and the one providing for the Federal Government may lend states money to match Federal aid highway funds, provides a means of liquidating the debt over seven years. In both instances the measure provides that unless other arrangements are made within two years the Federal Government shall withhold one-fifth of the annual Federal aid highway payments each year for a period of five years.

Payments of money for direct relief to any city or officials may be made to city officials at the request of the Governor of the State within which it is located. The amount, however, is deducted from the allotment to the State and the State is held responsible for it.

The question of regulations under the relief bill has not yet been taken up by the directors and probably will await final action by the President.

Publicity Policy Undecided.
The corporation also has not decided whether to bar direct announcements of loans for relief of destitution and loans to states.

The chances of any one state getting its full request for destitution or other loans immediately appeared remote today. It was indicated unofficially that the directorate probably would adopt the same general plan it and the Interstate Commerce Commission had adopted regarding railroads. Applications for large sums will be received and studied. The directors probably will approve amounts to meet immediate needs, but without hold action on the rest.

Information gathered by the Associated Press from all state capitals indicated that a dozen states already intend to ask for more than two-thirds of the $200,000,000, so this amount may have to be prorated fairly thin by the time all make known their needs.

Clothing Distribution.
Distribution of clothing to the needy under legislation appropriating $60,000 bales of Farm Board cotton will be begun within 10 days by the Red Cross.

John Barton Payne, Red Cross chairman, said today the $6,000 chapters of the organization had been asked to notify national headquarters at once of their needs and also if volunteer sewing groups could be set to work to make clothing.

"Our first step will be to supply chapters saying they can make clothes with the cloth they want," said Payne. "To expedite this work, we will probably get cloth already manufactured by exchanging cotton for it. We ought to be able to start sending out this cloth within a week or 10 days. The second step will be to make contacts with manufacturers of clothing after the chapters have told us the needs for ready-made clothing. I am not prepared at this time to say whether we will exchange cotton for manufactured clothing."

FINDS TREASURY AT CLEVELAND IS SHORT $1,170,000

Accountant Reports Amazing Manipulations in Tax Collection Figures in County Office.

GRAND JURY BEGINS INQUIRY TOMORROW

Sums Ranging From $100,000 to $1,900,000 Removed and Many of Them Never Returned.

By the Associated Press.

CLEVELAND, O., July 20.—More than $1,170,000, apparently missing from the Cuyahoga County (Cleveland) treasury, was hunted today by a special accountant hired by County Treasurer L. G. Collier, while a grand jury was assembled to hear evidence tomorrow.

The special accountant, Cleve M. Smith, yesterday disclosed an amazing juggling of the county's tax revenues, indicating, he said, that amounts from $100,000 to $1,900,000 had been removed at various times by officials of the county, and not always repaid.

State examiners reported an actual cash shortage of $477,760 several weeks ago, but Collier was of the opinion that this was a "hang-over" from alleged manipulations in previous administrations.

How Sums Were "Covered Up."
Collier's accountant, investigating the findings of the State Examiners, reported the large sums mysteriously disappeared from the records, as far back as 1924.

Smith said he found numerous occasions when the County Treasurer's office certified to the Auditor's office tax collection totals far less than the actual amounts received. Then, the records showed the Treasurer's office in later days or weeks, certifying the collection of taxes when none was received.

In this manner, the books indicate, sums of $100,000 to $1,900,000 mysteriously disappeared, were "covered up," and then generally "repaid" later.

$1,170,000 Still Missing.
But by Aug. 19, 1926, the total missing was $2,500,000, and of this $1,170,000, the accountant had been able to find only $1,330,000 returned. The remainder, $1,170,000, he said, apparently still is missing.

The irregular transactions first occurred, the accountant said, while Ralph C. McBride was County Treasurer, and again appeared when County Commissioner Walter C. Cook held the office.

Alexander Bernstein, who was chief deputy for Collier when the State examiners first reported the shortages, also was chief deputy under McBride and Cook.

CITY EMPLOYEES AT DETROIT PUT ON 5-DAY WORK WEEK

Council Votes Economy Program in Order to Get Pre-Payment of Taxes.

By the Associated Press.
DETROIT, July 20.—By a vote of 6 to 2, the City Council last night placed employees on a five-day 40-hour week, reducing salary by 14.5 per cent and preparing for co-operation by the city in an economy program advanced by large taxpayers who have agreed to help finance the city through the 1932-1933 fiscal year.

Information gathered by the Associated Press from all state capitals indicated that a dozen states already intend to ask for more than two-thirds of the $200,000,000, so this amount may have to be prorated fairly thin by the time all make known their needs.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., July 20.—The County Board of Supervisors yesterday denied the petition of Charles Chaplin, movie comedian, for a $6,000,000 reduction in the tax valuation of securities listed in his name.

The decision upheld the valuation of $7,663,578 placed on the securities by County Assessor E. W. Hepburn. Chaplin said the value should not have been more than $1,667,578.

WARRANTS ISSUED FOR 13 POLICEMEN IN FATAL BEATING

Four Members of Force at Mineola, N. Y., Are Charged With Second-Degree Murder.

ARRESTED AT HEARING IN SUSPECT'S DEATH

Prisoner Accused of Robbing Mother of Detective Died After Lengthy 'Questioning.'

By the Associated Press.

MINEOLA, N. Y., July 20.—Warrants were issued for 13 county policemen today in connection with the death of Hyman Stark, a prisoner, after lengthy police "questioning." Four of the warrants charge second degree murder.

The officers charged with second degree murder are Lieut. Jesse Mayforth and Sergeants Leslie Pearlman, Harry Zander and Charles Wessner.

All 13 policemen were charged with conspiracy to obstruct justice and seven of them were charged with second degree assault. Deputy Police Chief Frank Tappen was named in two warrants, one for neglect of duty and again as having been an accessory to the third degree beating of Stark which caused his death. All 18 were arrested in the courtroom where the hearing into the slaying was in progress. They were turned over to the Sheriff, who was instructed to treat them just like any other prisoners.

$10,000 Bail on Murder Charge.
Bail was fixed by Justice Steinbrink, who presided at the hearing and signed the warrants, at $10,000 each for the officers charged with second degree murder. Bail of $2500 each was set for the assault charges and the neglect of duty charge against Tappen.

The men charged with second degree assault are Detectives Patrick Stanley, Marcel Chagnon, George Hutchinson, Thomas Bonan and Joseph Hienzinski and Patrolmen Louis Ray and Harry Little.

Detective Hienzinski is the son of Mrs. Valeria Hienzinski who was beaten unconscious by four robbers when they found only $4 after entering her home. Stark was arrested as a suspect in the robbery.

The grand jury will meet tomorrow and Justice Steinbrink suggested to District Attorney Edwards to consider perjury indictments as well as conspiracy and neglect of duty.

Abram Skidmore, chief of Nassau County police, announced a police trial would be started Monday looking toward possible removal from the force of the accused men.

In his decision Justice Steinbrink said that the action of Hienzinski, who testified that he had taken "a poke or two" at the prisoner, was "perhaps understandable."

"There is no slightest doubt," Justice Steinbrink said, "that Stark died because of what happened at police headquarters. The fact that he was a criminal makes no difference. If that could be taken into account it would be just as justifiable to take these policemen and beat them and sweat them until they confessed their part in this brutal killing."

Marcel Chagnon, detective sergeant of the county police force, admitted on the witness stand that he had beaten prisoners "for good legal reasons," but denied he beat Stark. Chagnon was the first witness at continuation of a John Doe hearing into the death of Stark.

Identified by suspect.
At Monday night's session Chagnon was picked up by Stark's wife, who testified that she saw the detective who had beaten them at headquarters. He was heard to mutter, "Goodby, sweetheart," to Jess Stein, one of the three, and Justice Steinbrink warned him that threats against the prisoners would not be tolerated.

When he took the stand today Chagnon said he had been at headquarters from 1:30 p. m. to 1:50 and from 4 to 5:10 last Friday, the day Stark died.

HALTED IN COUNTY BY DEPUTIES, MAN ENDS LIFE IN AUTO

W. H. Juerling, Unemployed, Stopped for Questioning, Shoots Himself as Officers Drive Up.

Stopped for questioning by St. Louis County officers who had been following his automobile on Gravois road, William H. Juerling, unemployed, casket finisher of 2731 Delor court, shot and killed himself early today.

Deputy Constable Walter Seibert of Carondelet Township said Juerling had been driving his Buick sedan up and down Gravois road Monday night and last night, parking at times near the Sunset Auto Co., in Sappington. At 2:45 a. m. today, Seibert started to follow Juerling's machine east on Gravois road and at Highway No. 77, enlisted the aid of Special Deputy Sheriff Edward Early, who followed in his automobile.

At Sappington road, Seibert flashed a police spotlight on Juerling and ordered him to the side of the road. Juerling replied, "All right!" and drew off the pavement. Seibert stopped his machine behind the sedan and Early was driving past to park in front when Juerling reached to the seat beside him, picked up a revolver and shot himself in the right temple.

He died at St. Louis County Hospital two hours later without being able to make a statement.

Tracing the license number and lodge receipts found in his pockets, officers notified his wife, Mrs. Anna E. Juerling, who identified the body. She said her husband, who was 45 years old, had had only intermittent employment recently at the Mound-Carothers Casket Co., 2900 North Second street, and that he had been dependent. She last saw him, she said, last Saturday, when he left home without saying where he was going.

RUBBER FIRM RAISES WAGES

Will Restore to Employees 50 Per Cent Cut Since Last January.

By the Associated Press.

AKRON, O., July 20.—A salary and wage increase effective as of July 1 and calculated to restore to all employees the 50 per cent cut in wages last January was announced today by W. G. Klaus, president of India Tire and Rubber Co.

"The plan contemplates adding during the last six months of the fiscal year a sufficient amount to enable all employees to recover the pay they were deprived of by taking the cut," Klaus said, following a meeting of the board of directors. It is understood the plant employs approximately 400 factory workers and about 50 in office posts.

CHANCELLOR ACTS UNDER DECREE BY VON HINDENBURG

Mayor Bracht of Essen Takes Charge of Largest State in Nation, Exercising Power in Name of Von Papen.

ENTIRE CABINET OUT OF OFFICE

Capital Chief of Police Seized and Confined to Army Detention Station—New Policy Follows Political Disorders.

By the Associated Press.

BERLIN, July 20.—The German Government, with military precision, moved swiftly this morning to establish a virtual dictatorship over the huge state of Prussia and to clamp down martial law on the city of Berlin and the province of Brandenburg.

The first action was taken under an emergency decree issued by President Paul von Hindenburg this morning. It followed pressure upon the Government to stop the political riots which have taken a toll of more than 100 dead and 1200 injured in the last three weeks.

Chancellor Franz von Papen was appointed Commissioner of Prussia and Lord Mayor Franz Bracht of Essen was named the Chancellor's assistant and given the dictatorial power, in Von Papen's name.

The decree of martial law was issued when Karl Severing, Prussian Minister of Interior, declined to accept the President's first emergency decree as binding and said he would yield only to force. Gen. Gerd von Rundstedt, commander of the Third Reichwehr (Army) District was placed in charge of Berlin and Brandenburg under the martial law order. He was also given command of all police forces in that area.

The entire Prussian Cabinet was removed from office by the Government tonight and State Secretaries were appointed by Federal Commissioners to replace the ousted ministers.

Dr. Karl Severing, Prussian Minister of Interior, who had refused all day to recognize the Prussian dictator appointed by the Federal Government, finally relinquished his office when he was threatened with force.

Albert Grzesinski, president of the police, and Bernhard Weiss, vice-president, declined to surrender their posts and a squad of Reichwehr soldiers marched in and placed them under arrest.

Kurt Melcher, head of the police of Essen, took Grzesinski's place. A few minutes later a Reichwehr officer and 12 private wearing steel helmets and carrying side arms seized Col. Hugo Heilmann, the Berlin Chief of Police, and took him to the same military detention station where his superiors were placed in confinement.

Bracht swept the entire Prussian Press Department out of office. Meanwhile the military, to prevent possible attacks on the Government, reinforced the main guard and set up machine guns in front of the Federal chancellery.

Temporary Measures.
A Government spokesman said Von Hindenburg's action was taken only with a view of establishing security and order in Prussia, and that it was merely a passing measure.

Bracht arrived here by airplane today to begin his duties. He is 54 years old and a native of Berlin, although his family originated in Westphalia. He entered the Civil Service and became a departmental chief of the Ministry of Public Welfare in 1916. He was Secretary in the Marx Cabinet in 1923.

Bracht has confined himself principally to administrative work and kept aloof from politics although he leans toward the Centerist party of Von Papen and former Chancellor Brüning.

He succeeded Dr. Hans Luthy, now president of the Reichsbank, as Lord Mayor of Essen when Dr. Luthy became Chancellor in 1924.

PLANS ANNOUNCED FOR CAMPAIGN OF GOV. ROOSEVELT

It Will Be Handled Through State Organizations, as Was Done in Securing His Nomination.

CENTRAL COMMITTEE IN NEW YORK CITY

It Will Co-Operate With, Rather Than Direct State Bodies, Chairman James Farley Says.

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, July 19.—The campaign for the election of Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Democratic nominee for the presidency, will be run, as was the campaign to nominate him, through the state organizations, James A. Farley, Democratic national chairman, announced today.

There will be a Campaign Committee at the Roosevelt headquarters in New York City, but it will assist and co-operate with the state organizations rather than attempt to direct them, Farley said.

For the campaign there will be only one national headquarters, in New York City. There will be no branch headquarters aside from the regular headquarters in each state.

The office established in Washington by the last national committee will continue to function as a permanent organization of the National Committee, Farley said. It was said, however, that it would be run with a skeleton staff.

Farley Campaign Chairman. Farley said the Governor had appointed him chairman of the campaign committee. The personnel of the committee has not yet been made up.

The New York headquarters will be maintained at 321 Madison avenue, headquarters of the pre-convention campaign, and at the Biltmore Hotel. Farley said representatives from every section of the country would at all times be at headquarters. It is understood the plan is to rotate these visitors, each one spending a week or 10 days at a time in New York and then being replaced by someone else.

"The finances for the campaign," Farley said, "will be raised by a special finance committee, the members of which will be announced later, at which time we shall also announce the campaign treasurer and other fiscal officers."

To Keep Down Cost. "Every effort will be made to cut down unnecessary expense and all departments and bureaus which cannot justify themselves will be eliminated in the central headquarters."

Former Gov. Nellie Taylor Ross of Wyoming, vice chairman of the national committee, will be at the head of the women's organizations, as she was in 1928, Farley says.

There would be at headquarters, Farley said, an advisory committee which would confine itself to matters of party policy. The members of this committee also will be announced later.

"It is the Governor's intention," Farley said, "to advise with men recognized throughout the country as experts in their particular subjects. It is hoped that the headquarters at the Biltmore will be formally opened by Aug. 1."

"This does not mean there will be no campaign activities before that time," Farley continued, "because, as a matter of fact, by using the present force we were enabled to begin the campaign within a few hours after the final ballot in Chicago."

GERMAN GOVERNMENT PUTS PRUSSIA UNDER RULE OF DICTATOR

He is most interested in city planning.

In political circles the appointment was regarded as an effort to build a bridge toward the Center party which is now in violent opposition to the Government, even though Von Papen is a Centerist. It is understood the Cabinet is convinced the Hitlerites will not be able to get a majority in the Reichstag at the elections which are to be held July 31 and that preparations for some sort of coalition must be made.

For this the co-operation of the Center is deemed essential.

The emergency decree issued by Von Hindenburg said:

"The Chancellor as Commissioner, is empowered to remove members of the Prussian State Ministry from office and to take over the functions of the Prussian Premier and to designate other persons as Commissioners of the Reich, to conduct the Prussian ministries."

Martial Law Decree. This was generally interpreted to mean that a general political housecleaning throughout the Prussian administration was forthcoming.

The martial law order abrogates the articles of the Constitution which deal with the right of free speech, the right of assembly, the rights of private property and the privacy of telegraph, telephone and postal communications. All these rights may be curtailed as necessary.

The police are placed under direct control of Gen. Kurt von Schleicher, Federal Minister of De-

Resistance to his orders and those of his deputies may be punished by death if such resistance involves loss of life.

High treason, mob violence, arson, the use of explosives, damage to railways and similar offenses also may entail capital punishment instead of life imprisonment as hitherto.

The decree provides that the executive authority may demand that the Minister of Justice establish special courts to try lawbreakers.

The decree emphasizes that the independence of Prussia within the framework of the Constitution is not touched by the emergency decree.

The Government charged that while the other States of the Reich squelched communistic disorders Prussia failed to do so. It expressed the opinion that Severing and other high officials of the Prussian state regime contributed to the unrest "by their unrestrained sharp attacks on the Reich's government."

Appeal for Order. Placards appeared throughout Berlin bearing announcements by Von Rundstedt that he had been placed in charge of the execution of martial law. He called on the people to maintain order. Punishment was threatened for any one defying the posters.

The General German Federation of Labor, claiming a membership of 6,000,000, announced it had summoned delegates from all its member organizations to meet in Berlin tomorrow for consideration of the political situation.

Gen. Von Rundstedt is 56 years old. He was an infantry captain at the outbreak of the World War, after which he joined the general staff, on which he was active until the armistice.

He was appointed a Lieutenant Colonel in 1920 and a Lieutenant General in 1929. He became commander of the Third Reichswehr District in Berlin last January.

Three additional deaths and many injuries in political rioting added today to the tenseness of the situation.

A National Socialist was killed at Hanover by a Communist while giving the Nazi salute. A Reichsbannerman was shot dead at Buerke and a woman who was injured in Sunday's riot at Altona died.

Several were injured at Hanover. A speaker was seriously hurt at Memmingen when Nazis, hurling chairs and other missiles, broke up an election meeting of the Bavarian People's Party.

The Bavarian Government announced today that it would protest to President von Hindenburg, Chancellor von Papen and the Supreme Court of Germany against the appointment of a Federal Commissioner for Prussia as unconstitutional.

Tonight Chancellor von Papen spoke on the radio defending his course.

He berated the Prussian cabinet for tolerating Communist excesses which have taken many lives in the past two months. Things have come to a point, he said, where strong measures are imperative.

He said he hoped the measures would be only temporary, but he added that his government would not turn from its course. It has adopted until peace is established again.

office apparently unaware of the extra guards outside.

The demonstration planned for today took the form of a night-seeing tour after the veterans had been informed by Glasford that they could not picket the White House or parade in its vicinity.

"They allow people in the White House for sight-seeing," said Pace, "so I guess we will go in that capacity."

Glasford, however, had stopped all sight-seeing long before Pace and his men arrived.

The Police Chief had in his pocket a written order from the District Commissioners to prevent any further demonstrations by the bonus army during its visit in Washington.

A statement from these veterans issued after their repulse said they "would not be halted by this assemblage of armed men" and that President Hoover would "not turn the Capital into an armed camp if Mr. J. P. Morgan and his fellow bankers appeared to demand 're-lief'."

Delegation From California Passes Through Pennsylvania. GREENSBURG, Pa., July 20.—One hundred men, women and children pushed on toward Washington today to join the bonus campers. They are part of 250 persons who left Los Angeles by automobile several days ago. Seeking relief through a loud-speaker system, they camped here last night and left today for Gettysburg, Pa.

Appeals for soap were made last night. There are 20 children, ranging from two months to 11 years old, in the group. The party is traveling in 35 cars and has its own electric plant on a truck.

HOOVER ABOLISHES RADIO UNIT OF COMMERCE DEPARTMENT

Duties and Records Are Ordered Turned Over to Federal Commission.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, July 20.—President Hoover today issued an executive order abolishing the radio division of the Department of Commerce and simultaneously transferred the duties of that division to the Federal Radio Commission.

Under the President's order the Department of Commerce will turn over to the Commission all officers, employees, records and appropriations belonging to the old radio division.

"The Federal Radio Commission," the President said, "is hereby authorized and directed to dismiss officers and employees not indispensable to the service, to make such changes in titles, designations and duties of such officers and employees as it may deem necessary, and to return to the Treasury all appropriations or unexpended balances thereof not necessary to the maintenance of said Commission."

VOTE 25,792 TO 10,124 AGAINST MINE WAGE PACT

Official Count Announced in Referendum Taken on New Scale Proposed.

By the Associated Press. SPRINGFIELD, Ill., July 20.—Illinois union miners voted 25,792 to 10,124 against the $5 daily minimum wage agreement in last week's referendum, an official count showed today.

The union policy committee has not scheduled a meeting to determine whether the wage issue shall be submitted to arbitration or referred to the joint wage conference which drafted the lower pay rate.

Six hundred more miners were assured of jobs today as word came from the West Virginia Coal Co. at Gillespie and O'Fallon that it had agreed to tentatively resume operation under the old scale at $4.10.

About 10,000 of the State's 40,000 union miners are now working under such agreements.

LORETTA TURNBULL TO WED

Outboard Motorboat Champion Engaged to Flyer.

By the Associated Press. LOS ANGELES, Cal., July 20.—The engagement of Loretta Turnbull, 19 years old, outboard motorboat racing champion, and Richard Blythe of New York, an amateur flyer and publicity agent, was announced yesterday. Miss Turnbull's father, Rupert B. Turnbull, referee in Bankruptcy court, the United States District Court, said the wedding would be in the fall.

Miss Turnbull, whose home is in Monrovia, a Los Angeles suburb, met Blythe in New York on her first trip to Italy years ago, when she won several racing events. Later Blythe flew here to visit her and following a recent trip they became engaged. She is preparing now for the Olympic Games abroad races.

PAPER ADMITTED TO MAILED

Two Issues of Haldeman-Julius' Journal Had Been Barred.

By the Associated Press. GIRARD, Kan., July 20.—The Aug. 1 issue of the American Freeman was admitted to the mails here today under a ruling of Solicitor Horace J. Donnelly of the Postoffice Department, who previously ordered the confiscation of the June 25 and July 15 issues.

"We have won a big victory for the free press," E. Haldeman-Julius, publisher of the weekly, said. "This shows that the Washington Mussolinis can be taught to have some respect for the Constitution once the publisher and editor shows a little guts."

The Aug. 1 issue reprinted in small type the front page of the confiscated June 25 issue, carrying an attack on President Hoover.

7 BODIES FOUND AFTER DYNAMITE WRECKS VESSEL

Ten Injured, One Missing, Following Destruction of 'America' Blasting Channel in St. Lawrence.

By the Associated Press. ALEXANDRIA BAY, N. Y., July 20.—Seven men were killed, 10 injured and one is missing following an explosion that destroyed the drill boat "America" in the St. Lawrence River, near here yesterday. The America was blasting a channel.

A ton and a half of dynamite placed on the rocky bottom of the St. Lawrence River exploded under the hull of the 150-foot boat. A second explosion occurred within the boat immediately afterward. The valley for miles around was shaken.

The explosion occurred as the "America" was preparing to blast rock from the American channel near Chippewa Bay, a few miles from Brockville, Ont., where the Canadian drill boat blew up in 1930 with the loss of 31 lives. Lightning struck the Canadian boat, but it was not known today what caused the explosion underneath the America.

A member of the crew who escaped with minor injuries said he thought the "leader" used to pack dynamite in a drill hole had fallen accidentally against the dynamite cap which it was intended to detonate. The man missing was the America's chief engineer.

He urged the men to hang together, even when they went home. "If you don't hang together," he shouted, "you aren't worth a damn. They may be calling you tramps now, but in 1917 they didn't call you bums. The idea of people calling you tramps when you are the best behaved group of men in this country today, I consider it an honor to be asked to speak to you."

"Some folks say I am here after something. That's a lie. I don't want anything, and there is no one who can stick me now."

"If you do go home," he added, "keep your leaders here to look out for your interests and when you get home go to the polls in November and lick the hell out of those who are against you. You know who they are."

Urges Veterans to Vote. Butler said the time had come to change the position of the soldier who, "bled in war time and suffered in peace time."

"You can change it," he shouted, "there is a simple method provided in November this year through the God-given system of Government we have. Now go to it."

He peppered his speech with stories of battles and references to service in the last war, which brought cheers and laughter from the crowd.

"You are the same lovable people I knew when I shoved you on toward battle through a mud camp in France," he said.

"Horse feathers," shouted a veteran who probably remembered Breest. Butler laughed with the crowd.

After his speech Butler was taken on an inspection trip through the Anasodina camp. He was escorted by the Pennsylvania contingent which had acted as a guard of honor during the ceremonies. He spent the night in a tent with Waters.

Recalls Defeat for Senate. Butler, who some months ago was shut off the radio for saying "hell" in the course of a speech, was well aware there was no microphone in front of him. The speech bristled with "hells." The first one was when he said he had run for the United States Senate on a "bonus ticket and got the hell beat out of me."

He urged the men to hang together, even when they went home. "If you don't hang together," he shouted, "you aren't worth a damn. ## GEN. BUTLER TELLS BONUS CAMPERS TO CONTINUE FIGHT

"If You Do Go Home," He Says, "Leave Your Leaders Here and at Polls Lick Those Who Are Against You."

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, July 20.—Major-General Bradley D. Butler, formerly of the Marines, last night spoke encouragement to the World War veterans in Washington seeking the bonus.

"Every man who ever wore the uniform of the United States is different from other people—you are better," he shouted as a beginning. The ragged crowd of former soldiers yelled its approval.

Butler took off his coat, rolled up his sleeves and opened his collar while he was being introduced by W. W. Waters, commander of one faction of the bonus army.

"I would walk across the continent to associate with soldiers," he told the crowd, "and soldiers you certainly are. You are the best behaved segment of society in America today. You are as well disciplined as any army."

Recalls Defeat for Senate. Butler, who some months ago was shut off the radio for saying "hell" in the course of a speech, was well aware there was no microphone in front of him. ## GETS 35 YEARS FOR KIDNAPING

MRS. DONNELLY Guilty by Jury Was Identified by Victim as One of Her Guards.

By the Associated Press. KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 19.—Charles Mele, a gambler, was convicted last night of kidnaping Nell Q. Donnelly, wealthy garment manufacturer.

A 35-year prison term was fixed by the jury which deliberated for an hour and a half.

Two other men, Martin Depew, alias Depew, a steam shovel operator, and Walter Werner, a car mechanic, previously were sentenced to life terms after pleading guilty to the same charge. Lawrence Browning, Holliday, Kan., farmer, was sentenced to 25 years imprisonment.

Mrs. Donnelly was abducted from her residence last December and was taken in a motor car to a cottage near Bonner Springs, Kan. There she was kept for 10 hours while the kidnapers sought a ransom of $75,000. She was released unharmed December 29.

Police said that Deputy, a former resident of Bloomberg, Pa., the leader of the plot. He was traced to South Africa where he deserted a ship and was arrested at Johannesburg.

Mele was identified by Mrs. Donnelly as one of the men who commandeered her car and also as a guard at her capture prison. He was announced an appeal.

HANDLING OF RIOT HERE ASSAILED AT SOCIALIST MEETING

L. M. Wolf, Candidate for Governor, Denounces Mayor for Failing to Speak to Assembly.

A meeting to protest against "suspension of civil liberties" became a heated, informal debate last night between members of the Socialist party who had organized the gathering, and representatives of two Communist groups seeking to enroll the Socialist membership.

The debate was won by the Socialists when the chairman, lustily denouncing Communists and their creed of violence, summarily adjourned the meeting and continued to talk until the Communists had departed.

The gathering, in the basement of the auditorium of the Crunden branch library, Fourteenth street and Cass avenue, was attended by 35 adults, including the Communist representatives, and four children. The children, however, did not stay.

Louis Martin Wolf of Webster Groves, attorney and Socialist candidate for Governor, was the principal speaker. He said that Mayor Miller was attending a baseball game on July 8 when a group of St. Louis unemployed, led by members of the local Communist party, appeared at City Hall to demand relief.

Can't Tame a Hungry Man. "A real Mayor," he continued, "would have come out of hiding, spoken to the crowd and made every effort to reassure those in need of help. You can't tame a man who is hungry and weary and hot and thirsty."

Concerning the demonstration on the City Hall lawn July 11, which ended with four persons shot and 42 arrested, Wolf said: "Brutal and savage as was the attack on these destitute and innocent people, it was no more reprehensible than the immediate whitewashing of the whole thing by the chairman of the Board of Police Commissioners, Oliver T. Remington. To regain the good will of police officers whom he had antagonized by becoming a party to a scheme whereby police officers were forced to accept a 10 per cent cut in wages, this man flung civil liberties to the winds, trampled on the Constitution and disgraced St. Louis in the eyes of the entire world."

"The practice of creating a smoke screen to hide neglect of duty by yelling 'Reds and Communists,' has gone too far. Even a Communist can be hungry and destitute and one's belief in Communism or any other ism does not disentitle anyone to relief."

"Let us Mr. Remington, there would be nothing for a hungry man to do but jump in the river, and he would have to do that individually and without demonstration."

The first speaker was a young man who, like others of the Socialist organization, declined to give his name, saying "We don't want any individual publicity."

"I have some inside information," he said. "I've been handling out Socialist propaganda in North St. Louis for years, and so I find out things. Now I understand it was not a man who threw that first tear gas bomb back at the police, but a 14-year-old boy."

He then recited the circumstances of the disturbance, shouting, "The man who fired from the Mayor's office on these defenseless men and women should be indicted."

Tear Gas Gun Fired at Crowd. Investigation by the Post-Dispatch has determined that after the disturbance started, below Mayor Miller's office windows, a policeman fired a tear gas gun at the crowd.

The first speaker concluded with the observation "The Communists say to overthrow the present form of government by widespread violence. The Socialists favor doing it peacefully, but if our civil liberties are to be violated, we'll have to join the Communist party."

Next to speak was a tall, spectacled young man, on crutches. Someone in the crowd, referring to his bandaged left foot, said, "Well, it looks like you were at the City Hall."

"No," he replied. "I got this dealing out Socialist literature. It's all for the cause, comrades."

A gray-haired man, introduced as "Comrade Pelling," opened with the statement that "The capitalist class of St. Louis have at last satisfied their jealousy of the capitalists of other cities. They were jealous because the other capitalists had taken a crack at the Communists."

"Reading the St. Louis newspapers, one gets the idea one becomes a Communist first and then gets hungry. But they've got the cart before the horse. If every person in St. Louis who is hungry had been at the City Hall, there would have been 100,000."

Judge Blaine Criticized. "Now we come to Yetta Becker. She was at the City Hall and she was arrested. And when she was brought before Judge Blaine (the Police Court) Judge Blaine forgot all his judicial dignity and said, 'It seems to me, Yetta, that you're getting fat.'"

"What if Yetta Becker is getting fat? ... Should she starve herself? No! She has the revolutionary spirit! My hat off to Yetta Becker."

He was interrupted by cheers and applause and continued when the listeners had quieted. "The average Communist is a way above the average ward politician when it comes to intelligence and morality."

"Now, comrades," he concluded, "don't shoot off your horns on the corner, cursing cops and using dirty language. Save it for the ballot and register your protest there. That's where it will count."

After Wolf had concluded his address and departed, the meeting was declared open for discussion. A young man who said he represented the Communist League of America Opposition, took issue with the first speaker, saying his wing of the Communist party did not advocate violence.

He concluded in a hearty denunciation of "Socialist fakery," and the first speaker of the evening jumped to his feet and retailed with a still more violent attack on "Communist fakery," concluding, "The Communist party has thrown you out. They'll never let the opposition wing back." He glared at the representative of the Communist opposition, waved his arms and shouted, "A lot of Trotskyites."

Yetta Becker spoke for five minutes, outlining reasons why the Socialist membership should abandon their party and become Communists. More controversy followed and Yetta finally raised her hand to "say just a word or two more, to answer some of the comrades."

"The meeting's adjourned," the chairman shouted. He and the first speaker of the evening, waving their arms and raising their voices still more, held the floor until the Communist left.

Later they met their opponents outside and made an appointment for a formal debate.

DANIEL G. TAYLOR
BOOSTS DEARMONT
AS ASSET TO STATE

Former Circuit Judge Takes Stump in Behalf of Candidate for Gubernatorial Nomination.

The primary campaign is becoming intensified in St. Louis, with voting day less than two weeks away. Rival organizations are using every means to put the claims of their candidates before the public.

Former Circuit Judge Daniel G.
Taylor, who was a member of the Democratic National Platform Committee at the Chicago convention, took the stump last night to urge the nomination by his party of State Senator Russell L. Dearmont for Governor. On the Republican side, former Congressman Cleveland A. Newton urged the nomination of former Mayor Henry W. Kiel for United States Senator.

The major candidates were campaigning elsewhere in the State, but some of them are scheduled to make speeches in St. Louis later this week. Lieutenant-Governor Edward H. Winter, candidate for the Republican nomination for Governor, is to speak at St. Charles tonight.

Praises Dearmont's Record
Speaking for Dearmont in the Twenty-fourth Ward at Kingshighway and Reber place, Judge Taylor praised the candidate for his high ideals and enthusiasm for public service.

"The Democrats are in the happy situation," Judge Taylor said,
"of being able to give the people as the head of their State ticket a man who fits all the requirements for the high office of Governor in these trying times. We are all to be congratulated upon the opportunity which Russell Dearmont's candidacy presents to us to secure the enthusiastic services of a gallant and extraordinarily able young man."

"It is not often that such an opportunity occurs. This is a commercial age. This is a commercial country. The best brains of the country, generally speaking, have gone into commerce where the rewards are large. The professions and agriculture have, of course, attracted their share of able and successful men and women. Politics and public office have had to take what was left. Some of our politicians and office-holders may not like this statement, but it is none the less the fact."

"Great Asset to the State."
"Russell Dearmont is a highly educated man of rare attainments and sufficient experience in public affairs to make him a great asset to the State at this time. He is a man of whom the State will be justly proud. It is fortunate, indeed, that he has not become fastened into commercial life and is still available and willing to devote himself to the public service."

Speaking in the Twenty-sixth Ward to an outdoor meeting at Kingshighway and Easton avenue, Newton recommended Kiel as a stalwart Republican who if elected to the Senate could be depended on for loyal support to a Republican President.

"Henry Kiel is not a silver-tongued orator," Newton said, "but he is a trained public executive of common sense, a working bricklayer in his younger days, and a man who will lay bricks right for a nation now in distress. We have too many windjammers and limelight seekers in the Senate."

Newton said he was confident President Hoover would be re-elected and he urged the election of Kiel as a step toward giving a Republican administration a cooperating Congress.

Kocher Here Tomorrow.
Leo E. Kocher of Kansas City, running for the Republican gubernatorial nomination as a wet, was in Southeast Missouri today, but is to speak tomorrow night at a mass meeting of the Seventh and Eighth wards at the German House, 2145 Lafayette avenue. He will address various meetings in St. Louis Friday and Saturday, then will go to Kansas City.

Three five-minute radio addresses for Lieutenant-Governor Winter are to be given over KMOX, the first at 10:05 p. m. today by Wilton D. Chapman, St. Louis manager of Winter's campaign. At the same time tomorrow night Maj. Thomas F. McDonald will speak and Friday night the speaker will be Claude B.
Ricketts, former member of the State Legislature.

Bennett C. Clark, candidate for the Democratic nomination for United States Senator, will open his St. Louis campaign tomorrow night, speaking at 8 o'clock at Sauter's Park, 3615 South Broadway.

Hoover Receives Citizen Soldiers.
By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, July 20.—More than 400 young men in military garb today applauded President Hoover after he delivered a brief address to them. The President inspected two groups from the citizen's military camps near by and then paused to say he congratulated them on their service to the country. The groups were assembled on the south lawn of the White House. Two of the uniformed men collapsed from the heat during the review and were treated by Dr. Joel T. Boone, the White House physician.

URGES EMPLOYERS TO LIFT
BAR ON THE SALE OF MILK

An urgent request that a comparatively few firms, which have refused to allow the sale of milk in their offices by unemployed women, reconsider their refusal in view of the want to which it contributes,
was made today by Mrs. Norman M.
Windsor, president of the Child Conservation Conference.

In the five and a half months since the milk sales began, under sponsorship of the conference, said Mrs. Windsor, 255 persons had been enabled to live without charity, and unemployed mothers had made net earnings of $7253. Others are on the waiting list, and cannot be put to work until they can be assigned to places where employers request the service and employers permit it.

Employees have repeatedly asked for the service in instances where refusal hinges only on an office ruling made years ago against soldiers, administered indiscrimi-nately against the unemployed women who, as Mrs. Windsor pointed out, do not solicit but merely provide a service where it is requested.

CLIMATIC-CONTROL

... and get the highest regular-priced anti-knock quality in St. Louis ...

If your car has that summer-time lag on long hills—when it fails to jump ahead at your call for acceleration—the Power Bandit, Heat, has probably robbed you. Sweltering summer sunshine has raised the "engine heat" of your car faster than your gasoline can adapt itself to changing power needs. Your car's power has been stolen.

Mobilgas with Climatic-Control guards you against this type of power loss. Scientific research developed Climatic-Control. Specifications have been preadjusted so that Mobilgas adapts itself automatically to all variations in "engine heat" caused by hot weather or driving strain. Before Mobilgas comes to your locality, it has been tested in actual summer temperatures up to 150° to give you the highest usable level of performance under all summer driving conditions.

There is no price increase for Mobilgas with Climatic-Control. Just fill your tank and let your car decide.

BURR-STEVENSON CREDITORS AGREE ON LIQUIDATION

Holders of Claims Totalling $1,500,000 Consent to Sale of Assets When Market Conditions Improve.

Creditors with claims of about $1,500,000 against the securities firm of Burr-Stevens & Co., which suspended business last March, have agreed to a plan of liquidation whereby assets of the company will be sold for their benefit when market conditions improve. Claims of the creditors already have been "materially decreased," according to a statement issued late yesterday by Charles M. Rice, attorney for the concern, and spokesman for a committee of lawyers who formulated the liquidation plan which, "it is hoped, will result in eventual payment in full of all indebtedness."

"Burr, Stevens & Co., successors to George M. Burr & Co., Inc., which maintained offices in this city and Kansas City, just completed the liquidation of its business," Rice's statement sets forth. "The company at one time conducted one of the largest businesses in this district in commercial paper and investment securities, but for the past several years its business has been decreasing and its stockholders and officers determined to liquidate."

Debits Greatly Decreased. "As of March 30, 1932, the company owed approximately $1,500,000 to its creditors. Since that date its indebtedness has been materially decreased through liquidation of assets. Numerous securities, which could not be liquidated at this time without material sacrifice, were turned over today to a committee, approved by the company and the creditors for the purpose of being sold in an orderly manner with the least loss to the company and the creditors. Every creditor of the company has approved the plan of liquidation and it is hoped that this plan of liquidation will result in eventual payment in full of all indebtedness."

"Since March 30, decisions have been handed down in litigation concerning the Pickering Lumber Sales Co., and Sewer Warrants of St. Louis County which have greatly increased the value of certain very substantial holdings of Burr-Stevens & Co., Inc."

"The company has been represented by Attorneys Charles M. Rice and Robert Burnett, St. Louis, and E. H. Morrison, Kansas City, and the creditors have been represented by Attorneys Fred Williams, Jacob Lashly, Marion C. Early, Frank B. Coleman and William T. Jones. All matters connected with the winding up of the company were consummated this afternoon."

Status of Lumber Firm Notes. Rice explained that Burr-Stevens had purchased $120,000 in notes from the Pickering Lumber Sales Co., which were of doubtful value when the brokerage firm quit business, as suit had been brought to determine the right of the Pickering company to sell the notes. This litigation resulted in approval of the transaction and the notes became a major asset of the liquidating concern.

About $60,000 of sewer warrants of St. Louis County, in the assets of the brokerage company, are now deemed of value since a State Supreme Court decision has held them a valid issue, Rice said.

The amount of cash paid to creditors was not announced, but an arrangement has been made to protect the depreciated assets of the firm from forced sale, and to withhold them for liquidation for the benefit of creditors when conditions improve.

When the doors of the brokerage firm were closed last March, it was announced that liquidation would be necessary to meet an indebtedness of $1,500,000, of which about $500,000 was due to banks for loans said to be amply secured.

One Claim of $20,000. Other creditors are manufacturing and business concerns whose commercial paper was sold by the brokerage firm, and to whom balances are due from the transaction. Of 19 such creditors, Union-Map-Stern Co., furniture dealers, is the only St. Louis firm. Rice estimated this claim at about $20,000.

The group of 19, it was learned, have unanimously agreed to accept payment of a percentage of their claims, and await the process of slow liquidation of other assets for further reimbursement.

With the dismissal, last week, of a receivership suit filed against Burr-Stevens & Co., it was stated in the Post-Dispatch that a plan of liquidation, as related yesterday by Rice, had been agreed on.

The brokerage firm was incorporated six years ago as George H. Burr & Co., with $200,000 in preferred and 10,000 shares of no par common stock. Originally the company was a branch of George H. Burr & Co., a New York brokerage house.

With the acquisition of virtually all of the stock in the concern by Ira A. Stevens, president, and E. G. Hochstim, vice-president, the name was changed to Burr-Stevens & Co. Offices were in the Mississippi Valley Trust Building.

FLOWERS HITS HOMER, CARLETON AND CLARK
KNOCKED OUT OF BOX

By J. Roy Stockton.
SPORTSMAN'S PARK, July 20.—Tex Carleton of the Cardinals and William Watson Clark of the Dodgers, starting pitchers in the fifth and final game of the series this afternoon, didn't last long on Clark was driven from the box in the first inning, Jackie Flowers, first batter to face him, hitting his first pitch for a home run.

Carleton was knocked out of the box in the second inning, O'Doul's homer starting his downfall.

It was Ladies' day and about 7000 women attended. The paid attendance did not exceed 1000. There was an unusually large number of the members of the Knot-

Wright to Row for Canada
In Olympic Meet
PORT DALHOUSIE, Ont., July 20.—Hamilton's great, leader of the rowing team, who represented Canada in the Olympic games at Los Angeles by virtue of an impressive victory over all rivals in the trials over the lake here.
The short-stroking crew out-coasted the Toronto Argonauts, who represented Canada at the Amsterdam games, winning by a length and a half in 5 minutes 44.5 seconds for the 2000-meter Olympic course. This was said to be the fastest time ever recorded in America.
Wright Jr. of Toronto, a former diamond sculler, winner of the Dominion in his specialty, came from behind in the last half mile to defeat Dan Wallace of Halifax.
Ned Pratt and Neil De Mille of Vancouver qualified in the double scull, while the Halifax trio—Macquie, the four-oared entry, qualified as the four-oared entry.

FRANKIE PETROLLE GAINS SECOND VICTORY OVER BAT BATTALINO
By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, July 20.—It is unfortunate for Chris (Bat) Battalino that he neither can "take" the members of the Petrolle family nor leave them alone.
The former featherweight champion's ring career has suffered more than somewhat from the fact that he first thought he could lick Billy, the old Fargo Express, and then, falling in that, decided to take it out on the younger brother, Frankie.
Billy plastered Bat twice, almost ruining the Hartford Italian in each instance, and now Frankie has made it an even four triumphs for the tough Petrolle family over its most persistent rival.
Last night Frankie knocked Bat about for the second time in two weeks to gain a 10-round decision. He couldn't stop the batter, as Billy did in their memorable meeting during the winter, but he did the next best thing by knocking him flat in the fourth round for a nine count.

INSISTS ON SIX-HOUR DAY
Committee of American Train Dispatchers Makes Report.
CHICAGO, July 20.—Continued advocacy of the six-hour day was recommended yesterday by the legislative committee of the American Train Dispatchers' Association, a railway labor organization in convention here. The dispatchers hold the six-hour day to be an essential step to revive employment and business.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Train Dispatchers elected Mrs. R. M. Lanning of Pittsburgh, president and Mrs. Roy A. Moore of Fort Worth vice-president. Mrs. O. H. Braces of New York was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

STORE PROPRIETOR FOILS HOLDUP AND CAPTURES ROBBER

David Reiss, 1432 South Broadway, Seizes One of Two Men Who Attempted to Rob Him.

David Reiss, proprietor of a shoe store at 1432 South Broadway, frustrated a holdup at the store last night and captured one of two men who attempted to rob him. The second robber was later arrested by detectives in a radio car.

Reiss said the robbers entered about 9:10 o'clock. One ordered a pair of socks and a pair of shoes, putting them on. Although exhibiting no weapon, the one with the new shoes ordered the dealer into a rear room.

Instead Reiss leaped over a counter and ran to the front door to prevent the robbers' escape. He managed to keep them in the store but the other, wearing the shoes, escaped in an automobile bearing an Iowa license. An hour and a half later detectives at Seventh street and Chouteau avenue, who had heard of the crime by radio, stopped an automobile with an Iowa license and arrested the driver, who was wearing new shoes and socks.

The man caught in the store said he was Robert Wayne, 22-year-old machinist with no home. The other was booked as Herman Shoemaker, 22-year-old laborer of Indianapolis, Ind. Both admitted the attempted robbery, according to police.

Detectives say Shoemaker told them that he and Wayne met yesterday at Muscatine, Ia., stole the automobile, which belonged to the Public Health Bureau of Muscatine, and came to St. Louis, arriving here at 8:30 p. m. Shoemaker said they attempted the robbery because they had no money, according to detectives.

Grocer Robbed of $225 Stranger Persuaded Him to Draw From Bank.

Joseph de Woskin, a grocer of 1544 Franklin avenue, was robbed of $225 yesterday morning by a man who promised to sell him some merchandise at an extraordinarily low price. De Woskin said the man went into his store at noon yesterday, arranged the sale and agreed to complete the transaction at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon. De Woskin drew the money from a bank and at 5 p. m. went with his new acquaintance to the 4100 block of McPherson avenue to look at the goods. The acquaintance directed De Woskin to park his automobile behind a coupe in which there were two men. As De Woskin did so, the stranger drew a revolver and took the money, escaping in the coupe.

Investigating the recent theft of new golf balls from the store of the United States Rubber Co., 1015 Washington avenue, including one shipment of 12 gross stolen during last week-end, detectives yesterday found some of them in a shop on De Baliviere avenue and traced them to a dealer on Market street. On information he gave, they arrested a 60-year-old Negro employee of the company, who denied the theft.

FLEXIBLE WORK ADVOCATED

AT CONFERENCE IN BOSTON

Gov. Winant of New Hampshire Tells of Plan to Increase Number of Payrolls.

BOSTON, July 20.—Gov. John G. Winant of New Hampshire, addressing a gathering of business and industrial executives, economists and social workers, today opened a joint conference on the flexible work day and week, a plan which its sponsors think would add 3,000,000 persons to the nation's payroll.

The conference was held under the auspices of the New Hampshire Unemployment Relief Committee and the Massachusetts Commission on the Stabilization of Employment.

Gov. Winant, as chairman of the committee arranging the conference, said the plan, which originated in New Hampshire, "would restore to industrial, commercial and other employment any desired number of those at present unemployed."

"The principle of the flexible work day and week is effective because of its very flexibility," he said. "If applied in any widespread manner, it would be possible immediately to increase the number of workers on payrolls. This would be done as follows:

"By contribution of those still employed in a specific business, including wage earners, salaried executives and stockholders; the latter by a contribution from dividends if the business can pay dividends without increasing the cost of running a business; without increasing production, and with compensation to wage earners of shorter hours more than equivalent to the contribution from their wages."

Trans-Atlantic Flyers in Paris. By the Associated Press.
LE BOURG, France, July 20.—James Mattern and Bennett Griffin, who failed in an attempt to fly around the world, arrived today from Hamburg by air. They plan to remain in Paris until the end of the month when they will start for New York in the steamer Leviathan.

ATTEMPT TO GET OPTIONS ON LEVEE PROPERTY DROPPED

Progress Council Had Hoped to Speed Central River Front Improvement.

Efforts to obtain options on downtown levee property, to pave the way for carrying out the central river front improvement, have been abandoned by the Progress Council. It was unable to obtain a sufficient number of options from owners of contiguous property to justify continuing the attempt.

Claude B. Hicketts, chairman of the council's River Front Committee, in announcing the abandonment, said that he hoped the idea might be revived in the future. Downtown business interests were seeking to get the improvement started without waiting on the slow process of public financing and condemnation, in order to protect real estate values in the downtown area.

Mellon Sails for U. S. SOUTHAMPTON, July 20.—United States Ambassador Mellon and his son, Paul, sailed today on the Majestic for New York. Nicholas Murray Butler and his daughter, Sarah Schuyler Butler, also were passengers.

Shipping Man Ends Life by Gas. SAVANNAH, Ga., July 20.—Einar Storm Trosdal, international known shipping man, was found dead in his garage early today. Police said he committed suicide. Carbon monoxide gas generated by his automobile caused his death.

J. F. ALLEN DIES AT 88. DEAN OF COURT REPORTERS

Shortland Expert Since 1873 Retired 10 Years Ago; Funeral Services Tomorrow.

James Freeman Allen, dean of shorthand reporters in St. Louis, died of infirmities of age yesterday at his home, 25 Plant avenue, Webster Groves. He was 88 years old. Mr. Allen, it is thought, was the oldest shorthand court reporter in St. Louis. He learned shorthand in 1873 from a Washington expert who was sent here to record testimony in a court martial. Later, in the days before the typewriter, when transcripts were written out laboriously in longhand, he taught the system to many younger men.

For years he was the court reporter of the late Circuit Judge James E. Whitrow. With Arthur E. Mooney, he formed the reporting firm of Allen & Mooney, and before his retirement 10 years ago, was one of the best-known figures about the circuit courts.

His wife, Mrs. Sarah King Allen, founder of the Monday Club in Webster Groves, died last year.

BECKER'S BACKERS
HERE UPSET BY DRY INDORSEMENTAnti-Saloon League Approval of Secretary of State Embarrassing to Wets Stumping for Him.HIS LEGISLATIVE RECORD IS REASONSuperintendent Tate Explains Omission of Dearmont and Winter From Organization's List.The Missouri Anti-Saloon League,
by endorsing Secretary of State Charles U. Becker's candidacy for governor, has added to the difficulties of some of Becker's most active St. Louis supporters.William Sacks, who once carried a local Republican primary as a wet candidate for the Senate, and Jesse Baur, former saloon keeper and present clerk of the Court of Criminal Correction, have been leading the drum for Becker at rallies throughout the city.Becker, who takes a trio of singers about with him, and who occasionally juggles beer bottles, has made several speeches in which he has taken occasion to say:"They say Becker's dry. Am I dry?"The Anti-Saloon League indorsement is recognized as having, in St. Louis, only a surface value. It comes, for Becker, at a time when he has lost some strength to an unseen wet opponent, Leo E.
Behler of Kansas City. It may make it difficult for him to hold his support, claimed for him, of a majority of the Republican City Committee. Mayor Miller is also active in Becker's support.Tate's Explanation.
In a statement accompanying the indorsement of Becker, P. A. Tate, state superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, said nothing about Becker, whose record of dry voting in the Legislature was the ground for his indorsement. He said why no Democratic candidate was indorsed, and why Lieutenant-Governor Winter, opposing Becker, was not preferred.State Senator Russell Dearmont was not indorsed for the Democratic nomination for Governor. Tate said, "because he has stated publicly he accepts with a reservation the repeal program of the Democratic national platform.""Lieutenant-Governor Winter was not recommended because his record is one we believe neither wets nor dries can indorse or defend."The Journal of proceedings in the House of Representatives in the 1928 session, when the McCav-ey prohibition law and other existing prohibition laws were considered, shows that Mr. Winter was a member of that body, but that on each of the numerous occasions when a vote on such measures was taken Mr. Winter absented himself from the chamber, and thus avoided taking a position on prohibition."We do not see how any person interested in either side of the prohibition controversy can approve such a consistent course of evading the question."Other Dry Indorsements.
The Anti-Saloon League has previously indorsed Charles M. Hay, Democrat, and B. F. Beasely, Republican, for the Senate. It has indorsed Democratic candidates and nine Republican candidates for Congressman-at-large, with this notation as to the incomplete Republican list: "Vote for these names only. You need not vote for 13.
Vote for a wet is a vote against a dry."No St. Louis candidate is indorsed for Congress in either party. The indorsements for Congress are:Democratic—W. E. Barton, Houston; J. P. Burroughs, West
Plains; Clarence Cannon, Elsberry;
Raymond E. Cox, Centralia; C. C.
Dickinson, Clinton; J. W. Head, Palmyra; James F. Fulbright, Don-iphan; N. C. Gillman, Kansas City;
Robert D. Johnson, Marshall;
Ralph F. Loefer, Carrollton; J. L.
McLellan, Richmond; W. L. Nelson,
Columbia; and M. A. Romjue, Ma-cung.Republican—Philip A. Bennett, Springfield; J. P. Culler, Palmyra;
Eugene A. Hecker, Ferguson; David Hopkins, St. Joseph; George W. Kirk, Charleston; Susie A.
McIntyre, Jefferson City; Joe J.
Manlove, Joplin; John W. Palmer, Bedalia; and A. J. Rehkop, War-rensburg.The Anti-Saloon League has also indorsed an incomplete list of candidates for the Legislature, none of them from St. Louis or St. Louis County. It is explained that several dry candidates have no opposition, hence are not listed. The League has sent out, with the list, a circular of exhortation to Missouri dries, which reads:The friends of prohibition have an opportunity to win the greatest victory this year since the adoption of the Missouri branch of theMUSSOLINI FIRES 5 CABINET MINISTERS; GRANDI IS OUTPremier Takes Over Duties of Foreign Office and Will Supervise Relations With Vatican—No Policy Change Expected.By the Associated Press.
ROME, July 20.—Dino Grandi, Italian Foreign Minister, resigned today in a Cabinet shakeup ordered by Premier Mussolini.
Five Ministers and 11 Undersecretaries were displaced in the shake-up. Mussolini retained for himself two of the vacated portfolios.These constituted the first changes in the Cabinet since September, 1929.The shakeup was regarded as another "rotation" to bring new blood into the Government without any change of policy.The five Ministers who resigned were Grandi; Alfredo Rocco, Minister of Justice; Antonio Mosconi, Minister of Finance; Prof. Balbino Giuliano, Minister of Education, and Giuseppe Bottai, Minister of Corporations.Mussolini, who already was Minister of Interior as well as Premier, kept for himself the ministry of Foreign Affairs and Corporations.Among the 11 undersecretaries who were displaced was Musso-lini's right-hand man, Francesco Giunta.Best known of the ousted Ministers throughout the world is Grandi, whose name has figured in most of the international affairs of the last year.He went to the United States last year to confer with President Hoover following visits by Prime Minister MacDonald of Great Britain and Premier Laval of France.Mussolini, who held the premier's office and six Ministers before the present Cabinet was appointed in 1929, took back about half the power he had then with his rearrangement today. Besides appointing the ministers of Foreign Affairs and Corporations, he took over all relations with the Vatican and all religious affairs, by detaching the Department of Cults from the Ministry of Justice and adding it to the Ministry of Interior under himself.He appointed the following three new Ministers: Pietro de Franceschi, Minister of Justice; Guido Jung, Minister of Finance, and Francesco Rocca, Minister of Education. De Franceschi is rector of the University of Rome and Rocca is rector of the University of Palermo.Vincenzo Casali, who was Undersecretary of Finance, was appointed president of the National Institute of Exports. He was the only one of the 16 resigned members of the Cabinet to receive another post.Foreign Post for Grandi.
The post of Ambassador to Great Britain is vacant because of the recent death of Antonio Chiaramonte-Borbone. Grandi always has been in high favor with Mussolini and it is supposed some such post is in store for him.Grandi won the Premier's praise not only for his visit to President Hoover but also for his work at Geneva and Lausanne. Such work negotiations have taken so much of his ministry's time that some commentators think the Premier had decided to relieve him of the routine of the foreign ministry so that he would be free to devote all his energies to such affairs.The new cabinet has men who for the most part never have occupied high Government positions before. Jung was minister plenipotentiary and financial consul-ant in Washington in 1922.American Hotel Association has announced a list of indorsements for the primary which is identical with that made by the Crusaders, men's anti-prohibition organization. These indorsees are:Governor, Republican—Leo E.
Koehler; Senator, Republican,
Henry W. Kiel; Democratic, Bennett C. Clark; Lieutenant-Governor, Democratic, Floyd Sperry; Attorney-General—Democratic,
George Calvin.Congress, Republican—Charles
B. Burns, Brookfield; James
R. Claiborne, University City;
John J. Cochran, St. Louis; Mary
E. Padberg, St. Louis; Mary E. Ryder, St. Louis; J. H. Dick-brader, Washington; Richard M.
Duncan, St. Joseph; Albert J. Graff, Perryville; R. E. Hollway, Jefferson City; James E. Ruffin, Springfield; Reuben T. Wood, Springfield; Joseph B. Shannon, Kansas City, and Clyde Williams, Hillsboro.Congress, Republican—Sam A.
Clark, Carrollton; L. C. Dyer, St.
Louis; Duncan G. Miller, St. Louis;
Louis E. Miller, St. Louis; Henry
F. Niedringhaus, St. Louis; Polite
E. Elving, Clayton; George E. Hart,
Ferguson; John M. Hadley, Kansas City; Don Purteet, Jefferson City; Dr. James Stewart, Jefferson City; Rowland L. Johnston, Rolla;

3500 Persons Sign Request Presented to State Public Service Commission.Special to the Post-Dispatch.
JEFFERSON CITY, July 20.—
Petitions for a reduction in electric light and power rates of the Kansas City Power & Light Co. in Kansas City, signed by about 3500 persons, were filed with the Missouri Public Service Commission today by Dr. James B. Inscho of Kansas City.The commission issued an order about a year ago, on its own motion, for an inventory and appraisal of the property of the Kansas City Power & Light Co., which operates in several Missouri counties in addition to Kansas City. The commission also ordered an audit of the operating expenses and revenues.The appraisal and audit have not been started because the entire engineering and accounting staffs of the commission have been occupied with other pending rate and valuation cases.Domestic electric rates of the company in Kansas City are 6 1/2 cents a kilowatt hour for the first five kilowatt hours used for each month; 4 1/2 cents a kilowatt hour for the next five kilowatt hours a month, and 2 1/2 cents a kilowatt hour for all energy used monthly in excess of the first two rate blocks.HEAVY LAND GUN LIMIT DRAFTED
AT ARMS PARLEYWritten Into Declaration
Which Is to Be Adopted Before Adjournment of the Conference.By the Associated Press.
GENEVA, July 20.—The general commission of the World Disarmament Conference today received from a sub-committee the draft of a declaration to be adopted before adjournment.At the last minute there was written in a clause providing that all heavy land guns of calibers between certain limits shall be limited in number.The commission set tomorrow afternoon for discussion of the declaration. Hugh Gibson, member of the American contingent, said his delegation would approve it although he wished there had been a more complete acceptance of President Hoover's proposal to cut the world's arms by about one-third.As drawn by Sir John Simon of Great Britain, and Premier Beneš of Czechoslovakia, and approved by the delegations of the four Powers, the declaration has five divisions.The first asserts that the conference decided, "guided by the general principles underlying President Hoover's disarmament declaration, (A) that a substantial reduction in world armaments shall be effected, to be applied by a general convention alike to land and naval armaments, and (B) that the primary objective shall be to reduce means of attack."Points of Agreement.
Division two lists the points on which the conference, in concluding its first phase, notes an agreement. These are prohibition of air attacks against civilian populations; abolition of all aerial bombardment, subject to certain reservations, which include regulation of civil aircraft with full publicity; limitation of maximum tonnage of auxiliary vessels of war; and prohibition of chemical, bacteriological and incendiary warfare.The third division, stipulating that the conference bureau shall continue work during the adjournment, prepares for the second phase of the conference.The text, which makes it difficult to determine whether the conference accepts the principle of reduction of effective troops, says:
"The question which will be subject of such examination (by the conference bureau) are the following:1. Effectiveness. A strict limitation and real reduction of effectives shall be brought about."
Naval Negotiations.
Budget limitations and the trade and manufacture of arms, are other matters which the bureau will consider. The conference will challenge the power as unlawfully put forth behind a mask of pretense to accomplish a forbidden purpose of restricting production, they threaten old straw."The plaintiffs had charged protection orders were intended to restrict production, rather than to conserve waste.The wrecked plane of Bennett Griffin and James Mattern, American aviators, is shown in a peat bog near Borisov, between Berlin and Moscow. Griffin and Mattern are inspecting the plane.POWER OF PRESIDENT

tion in importing under the flexi-

by the ruling of the Supreme

OTTAWA, Ont., July 20.—A suggestion that the British Empire trade conference, which will open tomorrow, might prove a means for Canada to "break away from the influence of the United States" was made to the delegates today.Stanley M. Bruce, former Premier of Australia, placed in blunt words a question which was uppermost in all minds."Will a cohesive trade policy within the units of the British Empire be purchased," he asked, "at the cost of American commercial relations with Canada?"Referring to the United States, Canada's best customer, as a "major problem," Bruce said:
"There is always that tendency to be absorbed by a bigger country. This ought to be Canada's chance to break away."The Canadian Proposal.
The Canadians, although they are prepared to open the conference tomorrow with a proposal for an economic alignment of one-third of the earth's population and one-fourth of its known land sur-

Bruce.His pronouncement carried them back to 1911 when the Canadian Conservatives asserted their fears of annexation over the efforts of the Taff administration to institute reciprocal trade between the United States and Canada.There was no direct answer to the Bruce suggestion, but the Canathought to be ready to demand lower tariffs against British man-

THE POST-DISPATCH PLATFORM

I know that my platform will make no difference in the cardinal principles that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight democracy of all parties, never belong to any party; always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely passing laws, always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrong; whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

The Way Out.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
JAMES M. MITCHELL, in his letter, "Shorter Hours as a Relief Measure," has put into plain words what millions of people know to be true, i. e., the solution of this depression depends on the public at large and not on political action or the philanthropy of business. After all the high-sounding talk about inflation, foreign assets, credit, balance of trade, etc., and a nauseum, there remains only one clear-cut and indisputable fact, and that is our ability to produce more than the market demands. Regardless of the causes which operate to slow up the demand for goods, the fact remains that in our normal (so-called) eight-hour day we produce too much if everybody is employed. Other nations are doing the same thing in exactly the proportion in which they employ labor-saving devices. The obvious, the only permanent and effective remedy is to adjust the hours of labor to suit the demand. We cannot fix a standard today which will operate successfully at all times, but we can and must adopt a working day which will suit present needs.

Any other method of handling the situation, however technical or high-sounding it may be, will afford no better temporary relief and will ultimately fail. With the plan of shorter hours in operation it will be easy, when conditions change, to slide the scale of hours up or down to suit the need of the times.

Unfair to the Miners.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
MOST miners will agree that your "Brief resume of the Illinois miners' situation" was grossly unfair, especially after reading so continuously in the Post-Dispatch, that workers of every shade must have more of the products of their labor as the only remedy to solve present-day economic misery. If no one is to make the attempt amongst workers to obtain the most for their labor, why go on encouraging us with your progressive principles?

Perhaps we miners belong to the vanguard in aiding economic recovery by the simple method of demanding a living for working in contrast to your city method of existing on charity until such times, the Lord willing, prosperity returns.

Try to remember that we miners have been nurtured in the hard school of experience, and not artificiality.
Benton, Ill. JOHN BOOTEHEY.

Prof. Frankfurter's Contributions.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
ENCOURAGING as your interest and attitude toward the abortive appointment of Prof. Frankfurter to the Supreme Court of Massachusetts has been, important considerations seem to me to have been omitted from your editorial of July 13 criticizing his rejection of the honor. It is natural that this should be so, for some of the most important contributions which Prof. Frankfurter has made as a teacher of law are embedded in technical literature. It is true, however, that he has been able to anticipate strategic legal controversies and by means of laborious research to pave the way for their right solution.
Thus, to mention but a few examples, the Michaelson decision of the Supreme Court, holding that Congress has the power to prescribe jury trial in cases of indirect contempt of court, probably grows out of an article by Prof. Frankfurter in which the control which Congress has in the past has exercised over the courts is exhaustively set forth. The recent act outlawing "yellow-dog" contracts and outlawing the power of the Federal courts in labor injunction cases owes much to Prof. Frankfurter's specific suggestions based upon exhaustive study; and future modifications of the jurisdiction and procedure of the Supreme Court are certain to be the result of the continuing examination of this problem which Prof. Frankfurter is making. In all of this work, younger men have collaborated and have been stimulated to carry on subsequent research on their own account.

Neither the practicing lawyer nor the Judge has the time or the facilities for carrying on work of this character. That opportunity is limited to scholars at a few universities and research centers, and, possibly, to exceptional individuals who may be at work in other places. Whatever may be the validity of your criticism, that fact is not to be overlooked. As measures of social control come increasingly to be placed in the hands of such work as Prof. Frankfurter's is likely to grow in importance.

That Cat and Dog Deceit.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
REFERRING to the Babcock cat and dog legacy: Friends who have heard what one lone widow (who is struggling against present-day odds to bring two children to the point where they may be self-supporting and useful citizens) thinks of this bequest, say that they will rush for her eligibility to head the "cat" list.

And if there is anyone else, either in St. Louis or elsewhere in this benighted world, who can't think of a better way to dispose of his fortune, who will be most happy to give such a one very valuable advice and assistance.

MRS. HILDA A. SCHAEFER.

THE MACHINERY OF RATIFICATION.

Some interesting questions are raised by Leon Sachs, writing in the Baltimore Evening Sun, about the convention method of ratifying amendments to the Constitution. Heretofore, all amendments have been ratified by legislatures and, therefore, there is no precedent for the convention method. It is true, the Constitution itself was ratified by conventions, but that was a method invented at the time and bears no true analogy to procedure under Article V.

There is only one convention system set up in the states, and that is for state constitutional conventions. If that may be employed for ratification of a Federal amendment, Mr. Sachs argues that the convention method will not be superior to submission to the legislatures in obtaining a more representative verdict. This is because elections of delegates to state conventions must be held in existing legislative districts, and large vote centers will be inadequately represented in the conventions, as they are now in the legislatures.

New York City, with 54 per cent of the State's population, holds only 42 per cent of the seats in the lower house of the Legislature. Baltimore, with approximately 50 per cent of Maryland's population, has 36 out of 119 members in the House of Delegates and six out of 19 members of the Senate. Detroit, with one-third of Michigan's population, has but five Senators out of 23, and delegates to a convention in that State must be apportioned like the Senate. Providence, with 40 per cent of Rhode Island's population, has 25 out of 100 Representatives and only one Senator out of 39. St. Louis, with about 25 per cent of the State's population, has six out of 34 State Senators, or 17 per cent, and 19 out of 150 State Representatives, or 12 per cent.

Mr. Sachs intimates, therefore, that the wets are unduly exultant and too sure of victory, in view of the rotten borough system that prevails in the states. However, granting that his argument is of some force, it is also true that the revelation against prohibition is no longer confined to the wet cities; it has spread to the small towns and the country, now released from the iron grasp of the Anti-Saloon League. The Literary Digest poll showed this to be true, and it was also strongly indicated by the wet votes at both conventions cast by delegates from hitherto dry states.

Moreover, there is a great difference between electing delegates to a convention called for a single purpose and electing legislators. The former will not be professional office seekers, embroiled in all the intricate maneuvering of party politics. For the most part, it is to be presumed, they will be citizens un beholden to party organizations, and they will run either as wets or dries, without any shadings, so their supporters will know exactly how to vote.

Mr. Sachs goes farther in his study to express his belief that ratification by a state of a Federal amendment is a Federal, not a state, act, and is, therefore, under control of Congress. He thinks, in view of certain court decisions, that Congress may outline the procedure of convention organization and may even restrict the states for the purpose "along true lines of population."

Regardless of the soundness of this theory, we believe the avalanche of sentiment against the eighteenth amendment will operate to abolish it, however conventions are formed. Two years ago, even one year ago, the details of ratification would have been of utmost importance; but increasing awareness of prohibition's failure and the need for the great revenue liquor will bring has crushed the dry cause.

THE FEDERAL RELIEF BILL.

The so-called $2,122,000,000 relief bill which has come out of Congress will provide far less than two billion dollars in immediate relief.

In fact, only one-fifth of that amount will become directly available. The Reconstruction Finance Corporation will be able to lend $300,000,000 to state governments for the relief of the unemployed, and $136,000,000 will be spent on the construction of public roads.

The remaining $1,586,000,000 which the bill provides for Federal construction projects is to be expended only on certification by the Secretary of the Treasury that money is available or can be borrowed on easy terms, which may mean never.

The $1,500,000,000 which is added to the resources of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation can be employed only in loans to limited dividend corporations to finance housing projects, to agricultural corporations to finance the exportation of farm products, and to states, municipalities and other public agencies to finance the construction of "self-liquidating" improvements.

It may well be doubted whether these agencies are in position to borrow as much as $1,500,000,000, even if they are able to find enough "self-liquidating" projects on which to spend the money. In any case, such works can be initiated only after the passage of many months of previous time.

The final measure is a pallid compromise, which has survived a seemingly interminable process of hickering for partisan advantage. It is free of the Garner provision, which would have put the Finance Corporation in the general banking business; but it has also lost even the moderate provision for Federal public construction originally proposed by Senator Wagner. The amount of genuine relief which it will provide to meet the crying needs of the unemployed is negligible. The most that can be said for it is that it is better than nothing.

THE CASE OF GOLF.

A writer in Harper's Magazine says a lot of lovely things about contract bridge. "Purest of pleasures," he calls it; and at this point we shall generously concede that the poor, deluded chap possibly believes what he says. But when he goes out of his way to malign golf, he invites remonstrance. He is right, of course, in observing that there are fewer golfers now than in happier times, but never since the morning and evening of the first day was anyone more egregiously wrong than this fellow in remarking that many people took to golf because of its "mob value"; or, as he elaborates, "to play it made you look like a member of the upper classes." Not content with maligning the game, he proceeds to indict golfers with the remark that "golf seems to attract persons of a perverse and gloomy nature." We dissent, kindly but firmly, from this dreadful creature's preposterous judgment. Men have been beguiled into golf by strange and diverse ways: the solicitation or rallying of friends; the visible evidence of the game's ennobling influence upon its devotees; the non-golfer's unhappy realization that he had nothing to say and understood practically nothing of the conversation of his associates; sometimes a physician's advice; often by sheer fate. Anyhow, we doubt that anyone ever undertook golf from the climber motive, or from the illusion that, so apparelled, the crowd in the street would behold an Apollo or an Aphrodite. And whatever the pre-golf character, the discipline, education, victories and reverses of the fairways produce miraculous effects—transforming crabs into mellow philosophers and pale wallflowers into alluring buds or gorgeous irresistible. With these few simple words, we rest the case of golf.

POWERS AND PERILS OF THE GOVERNORSHIP.

Missourians, before making their choice among the candidates for the governorship nomination, should take thought on the powers of that office. The chief executive's position is the keystone of the State governmental structure. His policies in the discharge of his duties may have an adverse or a beneficial effect upon every citizen. It is all-important that the position be held by a public-spirited and conscientious leader, who can take his oath of office with no restraints upon him.

The fate of legislation often rests with the Governor, by exercise of his veto power, although the Legislature may pass bills over his disapproval. The authority of his high office and his personal influence also guide the course of law-making. The pardoning power is a potent influence for good or evil, in which the Penal Board acts only in an advisory capacity. The executive's authority to summon the militia must be wisely exercised in keeping the peace of the State.

The power of appointment is perhaps the Governor's most influential role, for his appointees are the intermediaries between the people and the State's political functions. On them rest the routine duties of government, and their character and capacity largely mold the caliber of the administration. The appointive offices cover a wide range, including the Highway Commission, Public Service Commission, St. Louis and St. Joseph police boards, the election boards in the State's greatest centers of population, the Superintendent of Insurance, Finance Commissioner, Adjutant-General and so on through a long list of other commissions, inspectors and similar functionaries. In addition, the Governor may fill vacancies in a host of State and local offices.

Control of these appointments is a glittering goal before Boss Pendergast of Kansas City, whose ambitions transcend the borders of his own bailiwick. His favored candidate for the governorship, Francis M. Wilson of Kansas City, in a recent address stated he was proud of that support, and paid tribute to Pendergast as a "fighting, dominant leader"—an appraisal from which there will be no dissent on either side. Pendergast, interviewed at the recent Democratic convention, was quoted as explaining that his presence in Chicago was only to see that his "boys" got their proper quota of political posts. There can be little doubt that the same political philosophy extends to the State, where his influence is far more powerful than on the broader national stage.

Mr. Wilson repudiates the charge that his policies would be dominated by the Pendergast influence were he elected. But "jobs for the boys" will inevitably become the rallying cry at the Kansas City headquarters in the event of a Wilson victory. It would require superhuman powers of resistance to stave off the pressure from the organization whose support the candidate gratefully acknowledges in the campaign. The Governor's authority is too great and the ambitions of the boss too far-reaching for the Missouri voter deliberately to risk the peril of a four-year Pendergast-controlled State government by electing his candidate.

A WORTHY UNDERTAKING.

Not much has been said about the organization of a group of jobless men into the Unemployed League of St. Louis. However, the city may very well be taking notice of it before long. Described by its Organization Committee as identical with the movement in Seattle, the new group plans to exchange work for relief. The Seattle movement, which we have referred to on several occasions, has attained national notice for the manner in which its unemployed were able to devise ways to exchange their services for the necessities of life. Working out a plan of self-help and commodity exchange, the co-operating individuals in Seattle are gathered in neighborhood groups, which as well have become factors of political importance in the city's life. Activity along similar lines in St. Louis will be watched with interest. Whether it attains the status of the Seattle project, it will, to whatever extent it functions, relieve the pressure on public aid and give its participants the gratification of having earned what they receive.

FEDERAL CONSTRUCTION IN ST. LOUIS.

Thanks to the mixup of relief legislation, politics and public works, St. Louis has suffered a new delay in obtaining the funds required to finish the proposed Federal building properly. For the same reason, the city may not get the money for the needed extension of the Postoffice.

Only about $1,350,000 more is desired for an additional four stories of the Federal building. Without it, many Federal offices will have to continue paying nearly $70,000 a year in rent—more than the cost of interest and maintenance of the four floors. The desirability of making the structure adequate is so obvious as hardly to call for argument. But the appropriation got into Speaker Garner's relief bill, against which the cry of "pork barrel" was raised. In the subsequent jockeying between Capitol Hill and White House, the item was dropped. Congressman Cochran, ever hopeful, says Treasury officials have been told to recommend authorization when Congress reconvenes in December. Meantime, attempts to start construction are surrounded with uncertainty.

Garner's bill offered nearly $1,500,000 more than is needed for the comprehensive Postoffice addition. This was whittled down to the fair amount of $4,350,000, but the proviso in the relief bill for certification of availability of funds seems likely to tie up the cash. The present Postoffice is cramped and inadequate. The Postmaster says the Government will have to start paying rent for additional quarters if it doesn't build the space. The site is being acquired at a cost of $1,238,000, which will be money utterly wasted if the addition is not erected.

Civic leadership, overwhelmed with local relief problems, has not been active in preventing this double fiasco.

St. Louis oil broker leaves $35,000 for care of cats and dogs. Lots of people have put more than that in those animals.

"I AM THE STATE OF MISSOURI!"

Difficulties of Economic Diagnosis

Best way to keep economic health, like bodily health, is by sound living, Harvard economist writes; national planning, despite its uncertainties, is called wisest plan to prevent crises; in depressions, as in some diseases, recovery occurs spontaneously; both economists and doctors can give only general advice on stimulants to patients.

Prof. F. W. Taussig in Harper's Magazine.

THE doctors tell us that the best way to keep healthy. We can say, by analogy, that the best way to prevent crises is to conduct industry soberly and judiciously, and to keep it sound.

National planning—a deliberate control of the industrial changes—is the one thing that has a claim to be a remedy. It has its obvious limitations, but its possibilities also. No one can say what is the best way of organizing for this sort of thing—national councils or what not—and still less can one say what will be the effects of such planning.

Quite new lessons would have to be learned: how to plan and how to carry out plans. There would be false steps; the obstacles which arise under our cumbersome constitutional system; the perpetual and disheartening maneuvering and manipulation of politicians and business contrivances; the clamor for non-intervention by one locality or industry, for intervention by another.

Such experiences are familiar in the work of the planning and regulating bodies which have been set up in the last generation or two: the Interstate Commerce Commission, the Federal Trade Commission, the Federal Reserve Board, the Federal Tariff Commission and the no less blessed Department of Commerce. All their untoward experiences rest on the plain and obvious fact that this huge and intricate economic body of ours has grown much faster and has acquired much more power and momentum of its own than have our arrangements for guiding it.

Neither our economic analysis nor our political machinery has kept pace with the intricacy of the industrial advance. And yet, on the other hand, at least a beginning has been made toward regulation and control. Improvement there has been.

I have the utmost sympathy and good will for those who urge for more of control, forecast, regulation, and I try to maintain the sympathetic feelings even when the talk is heavy and the exhortation pointless. We must squarely face the fact that this planning business is not only often nebulous but inherently difficult and uncertain. Much will have to be learned; the first steps cannot be tentative. What they will next lead to, and how much will come of it all, no one can say. A generation will shape so much I will venture to forecast—before anything of real effect can be accomplished.

And at the very last and very best, complete stabilization of progress, or rather its complete orderliness, is not attainable. The most we can hope for is the mitigation of the pains of progress. The hopes and schemes for planning promise no quick remedy, nor even a complete one.

There are widespread diseases which appear in an incipient or minor stage in large numbers of persons, but in most cases come to an end before real harm has been done, through some quasi-spontaneous resistance or reaction. The doctors do not quite know how it happens, but somehow it does. Not so, alas, with cancer. Nothing in nature's uncontrolled working prevents it from proceeding relentlessly to the end.

When it comes to crises, the case is like that of the defense-creating diseases. Somehow or other, the thing seems to cure itself. Minor crises and depressions are got over with comparative ease. Even the great and deep-reaching ones, such as we are now in the midst of, run their course and health sets in again. We do not know quite how it happens, any more than the doctors quite know how tuberculosis is stopped or how the patient recovers when once the crisis in pneumonia has passed. Whatever the explanation, all our observations show that in due time industry recovers from its ills and sets out again to new conditions of health not worse than those of the earlier periods. I take it this will happen with the present depression. We are not irretrievably running to a fatal end.

And here both economists and doctors are confronted with puzzles. Just how does recuperation set in and what can be done to promote it or hasten it? The doctors frequently prescribe tonics which seem to help in convalescence but which they would not for a moment think of suggesting during the stage of incubation. They often advise the patient to force himself a bit, and to be on his guard lest he fall into habits of inactivity, or yield to an auto-suggestion of insuperable weakness and fatigue. The psychological factor counts, and counts in ways that cannot be predicted.

The very circumstances that the patient believes a given regime will help him—baths, walks, exercises, diet—may be just what makes the procedure helpful. If he asks himself whether some device or trick will do him good, the shrewd doctor may say, "That has helped many people, why not try it?" Just what to advise or what to permit depends on individuals, on the seriousness of the disease they have been through, on their temperaments, and—well, just on chance; that is, we do not know.

Similarly, the economist is puzzled in trying to make out just how and why recovery from collapse begins, and just what will promote it. A depression may seem pretty certainly to have run its course, and all may appear ready for a fresh start. But here, too, the psychological element enters. Just as there is a prevailing atmosphere of optimism and excitement during the boom, there is one of pessimism and lethargy during the depression.

No one can tell when will start things up; perhaps a turn of the harvest, perhaps a profitable operation in some conspicuous industry that hits on a new invention or new demands, even (I am sorry to admit it) a war. Tooting and snipping on the back seem to accomplish nothing; not more than warnings during the boom have a depressing effect. And yet perhaps they might!

Great expenditures of public works may have a sort of catalytic effect, bringing the shattered and disordered economic elements into cohesion; and again they may fall flat. The same holds true of free extensions of credit, and of plentiful money, loans to concerns which are in financial straits yet supposed to be embarrassed only for the time being. Any of these stimulants or supposed restoratives, if used too widely or too freely, may result in a false start, then relapse, eventual prolongation of the depression. No one can tell how the psychological factor will work.

The economist may be well tempted to say, like the doctors, "Try this sort of thing if you like. Sometimes it helps; but don't expect it. Sooner or later you will be in good health again. But neither brood on your miseries nor try to shoot yourself into health. Don't suppose that there is anything which will bring you back to your full self quickly or suddenly; but don't lose heart."

A Blow for Holding Concerns

From the Milwaukee Journal.

A KANSAS court upholds a State law imposing regulation on the sale of holding company securities. These securities must be registered with the proper State commissioner, and their marketing is subject to the same restriction as the sale of paper issued by purely State concerns. Thus the arm of the blue sky law in Kansas reaches out to the holding company.

The State's action was bitterly fought by one of the largest holding companies in the United States, which contended that its financial dealings were not properly subject to State scrutiny. But the two judges who sat in the case pointed out that a State would be derelict in its duty to its citizens if it did not provide supervision. Here is the court's reason:

"There seems to be reasonable ground for the statement that the sale of securities of a holding company would be more likely to work fraud upon the buying public, and to lead to imposition and unfair dealing, than the sale of the securities of any ordinary utility corporation."

"That needed to be said. It is not to ignore the methods of all holding companies by any means. But it is to take some of the ballyhoo out of the too-readily-accepted thought that if an imposing name is engraved at the top of a security, that security must be all right."

High-pressure salesmanship has been all too characteristic of the marketing of holding company offerings. People passed up opportunity to invest in their own local utilities, where every dollar of their investment was amply guaranteed by tangible property, in order to buy the paper of these other companies that boasted of their great size and spread. The buyer did not know, and could not know, that many of these offerings were founded on financing rather than on property, and that whatever equity the security had in real property might be spread so thin that the purchaser would never be able to find it.

The depression came and the true character of some of these purchases began to appear. One great holding company that had drawn millions from the pockets of investors crashed. Its financing was of the thin equity type. The same money put into local companies would have been safe.

Holding companies may have a place in the scheme of things. But if they do, there ought to be no objection to their proving it. There ought to be no objection to State scrutiny of their finances, in order to make sure that investors are really getting what they pay for.

THE BANK WAS RIGHT.

From the Spokane (Wash.) Spokesman-Review.
A NEW YORK banking house admits that it lent the late Ivar Kreuger $115,000,000 without security, because he was such an honest man. The amusing feature is that the loan was repaid, and the firm made money on it. In other words, the bankers' judgment was absolutely correct—for six months in 1930.

starts, then relapse, eventual prolongation of the depression. No one can tell how the psychological factor will work.

The economist may be well tempted to say, like the doctors, "Try this sort of thing if you like. Sometimes it helps; but don't expect it. Sooner or later you will be in good health again. But neither brood on your miseries nor try to shoot yourself into health. Don't suppose that there is anything which will bring you back to your full self quickly or suddenly; but don't lose heart."

MEMORIAL SERVICE
HELD FOR ROMANOFFS

Czar's Flag Raised at Ceremony by White Russians in New York.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, July 20.—The Herald-Tribune says members of the White Russian colony of the city used the verb "to" instead of "was" in speaking of the culture of the Imperial Russian empire during the recent memorial services to the late Czar Nicholas II. The ceremony was held in their Orthodox Church of Christ the Savior and consisted of saying prayers and chanting hymns for the late Czar and his family. Other members of the Imperial Russian family who were slain in 1918.

During the entire service, which began at 11 and continued until after 2 o'clock, those present remained standing until the hymns of the empire and the battle flag brought from a former Imperial cruiser were lowered. Then they sat down on their knees and touched their foreheads to the floor.

The Rev. I. Semoff, archdeacon of the Orthodox Russian Cathedral, chanted: "In peace let us pray for the Lord. Let us pray for the peace of the whole world; for the welfare of God's holy churches and for the welfare of all, for this holy temple and for those who with faith, devotion and in fear have entered therein."

Ex-Members of Royal House.
In the congregation, standing were members of the former Czar household, members of the former Russian Academy, artists, members of the military, scientists. There were the Prince Paul Chavchava, the Prince Serge Gagarin, the Prince and Princess Serge Obolensky, Igor Sikorsky, airplane designer; Capt. Vladimir P. de Smol, president of the congregation; Col. Peter Mironoff and P. Zuboff.

The archdeacon continued: "We pray for this city, for every city and land, for those who travel by sea and land, for those who are sick and suffering, for those who are in captivity and for their salvation." The choir again responded: "To His Holiness, the Patriarch of All Russia, many years. To our most God-fearing ruler, His Majesty, the Emperor of the Russian Empire, and to all authorities, many years. To the Right Reverend patriarchs, metropolitans, archbishops, many years, to the orthodox councils, the commanders of towns, and to the Christ-loving army and all orthodox Christians many years."

lots and wide export facilities in the United States. Reciprocity still means more to them than a dominion's share in a circumscribed market 4000 miles away.

The apparent out-of-face caused considerable excitement in the British delegation, which still hopes, however, for the support of the Western farmers in for the Eastern industry to make tariff trades and other concessions with England and the empire nations overseas.

American business representatives, almost more numerous here than the Canadians, stirred uneasily over Bruce's statement, which was issued in printed form, but they held to the view that the Ottawa Government could not jeopardize a trade with the United States worth $900,000,000 in 1931.

Canada's exports to the United States last year totaled about $350,000,000 and its exports to the United Kingdom about $220,000,000. Its imports from the United States were $584,000,000, against the Dominion Government.

An "On-to-Ottawa" movement among Canada's unemployed is in progress. From Toronto comes information that thousands of the unemployed are "riding the rods" and hitch-hiking there. Mounted police in Regina and other western points have been ordering all train riders off eastbound trains.

These farmers still insist they would rather buy tools and equipment in Minneapolis and Duluth if the Ottawa Government would lower the tariff on these articles. They would also like to see the American tariff against wheat and feeder cattle reduced, so they might take advantage of rich feed

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

MR. AND MRS. JOHN GATES WILLIAMS of Clayton road and their young daughter, Ann Cary Williams, will leave St. Louis today for Oyster Harbor, Cape Cod, Mass., where they have a house for the season.

Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Williams gave a luncheon for Lamont Cohue, president of the American Airways, and Glenn Smith and Warren Oakes, officers of the corporation, which has moved its offices to St. Louis. Mr. Cohue, whose home is in New York, is a guest at Hotel Chase. Mr. Smith and Mr. Oakes are planning to lease the home of Arthur and Stuart Stickney in the St. Louis Country Club grounds.

The luncheon guests included Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Lewis, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew W. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Werner, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Maestre, Mrs. Charles Parsons Pettus and Mr. and Mrs. Eugene F. Williams Jr. Later in the afternoon additional guests arrived for a swimming party, including Mr. and Mrs. Carl Langenberg, Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Moore and Mr. and Mrs. Harold M. Kauffman.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Doster Gardner, 4508 West Pine boulevard, are planning a trip to California. They will leave early in August for Del Monte, and will return about Sept. 1.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene F. Williams Jr. of St. Louis Country Club grounds departed Monday for Watch Hill, R. I., where they will have a house for the season. Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Shinn, 85 Potomac land place, and their family are already there.

Members of the family of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin W. Grove Jr. of Hampton Park will be widely separated during the remainder of the summer. Their daughter, Miss Gertrude, and their son, E. W. Grove Jr., left Sunday for the ranch, the Diamond G, in Ruess, Colo., to remain for the season. On the same train, bound for Glenwood Springs, Colo., were Mrs. Briggs Hoffman and her two sons, Mrs. Hoffman's mother, Mrs. C. Marquard Forster, and her sister, Miss Hilda Forster, are also at Glenwood for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Lewis of Ferris, La., are spending the summer at the summer at their home at Chester, Nova Scotia, about 45 miles from Halifax. They will motor East and then North. They have a house on the mainland and a lodge on Gooseberry Island, near by, and sailing is one of the chief sports. James Grove will enter the Massachusetts Institute of Technology at Boston in the fall.

Mr. and Mrs. August A. Busch of Grant's Farm, St. Louis County, with their daughter, Mrs. C. Drummond Jones, and her daughter, Miss Jacqueline Busch Jones, will spend the late summer in Europe. They plan to sail in August.

Mr. and Mrs. Busch are now at their summer estate in Cooperstown, N. Y., where they are entertaining members of their family. Mrs. Jones and Miss Jacqueline will leave St. Louis the last of the week to join them. Their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Adolphus Busch III, will spend two weeks there. They left St. Louis Monday for New York and will spend a few days in New York before continuing on to Cooperstown.

Miss Parker H. Woods of Bellevue Acres, Normandy, and her daughter, Miss Jeanne Louise Herring, have just returned from Cleveland and Akron, O., where they have been visiting relatives for 10 days.

Miss Herring will leave St. Louis tomorrow for Denver, Colo., where she will be the guest of Miss Barbara Blackman at her home. Miss Blackman, who was extensively entertained during the midwinter holidays while visiting Miss Herring, will take her to Georgetown, Colo., to visit her aunt, Mrs. Frey of Denver, at her home in the mountains.

Mrs. Frank U. Hammett, 6331 Pershing avenue, with her daughters, Miss Mary Louise and Mrs. Truman E. Walker, are in Douglas, Mich., for the late summer. They left St. Louis about a week ago by motor, and are guests at the Lake Shore Country Club. Mr. and Mrs. Hammett's son, Frank Jr., is attending the Princeton University military training camp.

Mrs. and Mrs. Harry G. Koerber of Hampton Park and their daughter, Miss Katherine Koerber, are entertaining John Hallett of Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. Koerber will sail Aug. 11 for a late summer cruise to Bermuda. Miss Katherine may visit friends in the West.

Mrs. James E. Berns, 4396 Maryland avenue, who accompanied Mrs. David Randolph Calhoun of the Kingsbury apartments, to New York last week, is now spending a few days with Mrs. Webster Tilton, formerly of St. Louis. She is expected home Saturday or Sunday. Mrs. Calhoun has returned.

Mrs. Charles E. Bascom, 52 Portland place, has been called home from Nantucket, Mass., where with her family, she was spending the summer, because of the serious illness of Mrs. Bascom's mother, Mrs. Joseph D. Bascom, 48 Westmoreland place. She is en route to St. Louis.

About 50 prominent women attended a luncheon given by the Welcome Inn organization yesterday at the St. Louis Country Club to learn the plans which have been made for the championship rodeo, part of the proceeds of which will be given to Welcome Inn.

The guests were seated in the private dining room at a long table decorated with bowls of flowers from the gardens of Mrs. Josephine Drake Boyd, in Kirkwood. Mrs. Boyd is an enthusiastic worker for Welcome Inn and lent her house and garden recently for a festival and supper by which Welcome Inn benefited. Mrs. Ford W. Thompson was chairman of the luncheon arrangements and Mrs. Nat Brown presided.

In an after-luncheon talk, Mrs. Brown told of the rodeo, which is to be held Sept. 17 to 24 at The Arena, with eight evening performances and four matinees. The participants, who are not professionals, are competing in similar shows in many parts of the United States and Canada this summer, and the winners of each class of horsemanship and roping will come to St. Louis. There are sufficient classes at each show.

The participants pay their own expenses while here and their own entrance fees. Prizes will be given by three judges. Twenty-five per cent of the gross proceeds, with a minimum of $12,500 will go to Welcome Inn. From this fund the Inn plans to feed 6000 persons a day during the winter and, in addition, feed the 52 families who assist in the food distribution. Because much food is donated, meals are given at one and one-half cents each. More than one ton of rice and four tons of potatoes are given out twice each week, in addition to meat and vegetables. One of the St. Louis dairies donates 600 quarts of milk twice each week for the children of the neighborhood.

VISITOR IN CANADA

MISS VIRGINIA McVOY, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James A. McVoy, 20 Westmoreland place, is visiting Miss Hope and Miss Joan Pangman, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil C. Pangman, at their cottage in Algonquin Park, Canada. She accompanied them North last week. Later Miss McVoy will visit Mrs. Norman L. McLeod, formerly Mrs. John F. Betts of St. Louis, in Toronto, and a former classmate in Cleveland.

The participants pay their own expenses while here and their own entrance fees. Prizes will be given by three judges. Twenty-five per cent of the gross proceeds, with a minimum of $12,500 will go to Welcome Inn. From this fund the Inn plans to feed 6000 persons a day during the winter and, in addition, feed the 52 families who assist in the food distribution. One of the St. Louis dairies donates 600 quarts of milk twice each week for the children of the neighborhood.

In addition to the food relief station the 13 women officers of Welcome Inn have assumed the management of a hotel nearby, and the funds derived from this project are put back into supplies. Two hundred and sixty-five children within four blocks are being cared for daily on the Welcome Inn playground.

The luncheon guests yesterday included Mrs. George W. Niedringhaus, Mrs. Ford Thompson, Mrs. James M. Francis, Mrs. O. P. J. Falk, Mrs. Warner S. McCall, Mrs. Frederick D. Gardner, Mrs. Josephine Drake Boyd, Mrs. Ernest Lewis, Mrs. Thomas L. Anderson, Mrs. John Thorne Moss, Mrs. Norman Brown, Mrs. Parker H. Woods, Mrs. Guido Pantaleoni, Mrs. David E. White, Mrs. Eberhard Anheuser, Mrs. James A. McVoy, Mrs. Henry C. Whiteside, Mrs. George M. Kauffman, Mrs. George Dunbar Fisher, Mrs. Josephine Salter, Mrs. Gilbert P. Eitelinger, Mrs. T. M. Sayman, Mrs. Le Roy Sager, Mrs. Mary B. Polard and Mrs. Laura Niekamp Nicholson.

COMMODORE BULL DIES AT 80

Retired Navy Officer Stricken in San Francisco Home.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 20.—Commodore James H. Bull, U. S. N., retired, died at his home here last night at the age of 80. Senior in the now abolished rank in the navy, he was stricken shortly before dinner time at his home.

The youngest of all midshipmen graduated from the Naval Academy at Annapolis—he was graduated at 17 as a member of the class of 1870—Commodore Bull retired here 25 years ago. He served through the Spanish-American War in the blockade off Havana and later saw service in the Philippines.

The weekly traffic school for traffic violators conducted by Police Judge Blaine in his courtroom will be held on Wednesday instead of Saturday nights, beginning tonight. The school convenes at 7:30 p. m.

LEADERS OF STOCK MARKET RECOVER IN SLOW RATE

Many of Latter Group Range Up 1 to 2 Points as Traders are Encouraged by Cessation of Selling Previous Day.

STOCK PRICE TREND.

Number of advances...	254
Number of declines...	171
Stocks unchanged...	121
Total issues traded...	476,431

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, July 20.—The stock market regained much of its Monday loss today, as traders were encouraged by the cessation of selling yesterday. Prices of many of the leaders range up 1 to 2 points in quiet trading, and closed around the day's best levels, with a firm tone. The turnover was only about 600,000 shares.

Shares ignored lag in grains, and forged ahead in the final dealings, after a moderate momentary dip in the last hour. There was considerable short covering.

Advances of around 2 points were registered by Union Pacific, Santa Fe, Liggett & Myers, B. U. S. Steel preferred, Auburn and Coca Cola. Norfolk and Western gained nearly 5. General Electric gained a small fraction in fairly active trading. U. S. Steel common and Standard of N. J. closed up major fractions, and issues up a point or more included American Can, American Telephone, American Tobacco, B. Allied Chemical, General Foods, Gillette and Lambert.

Foreign exchanges were marked by strength of sterling, as against the European gold currencies. The French franc declined 1/2 to 3/4 of a cent, the lowest for 1932. The Dutch guilder and the Belgian franc also lower. The mark was firm, despite political unsettlement in Germany, and sterling cables ruled 1 1/2 cents higher at 35 1/2.

Rail Executives Meet.—The meeting of the Railway Executives' Association to discuss measures to ameliorate the situation of the carriers was watched with considerable interest.

The report of electric power production for the week ended July 16 was somewhat disappointing, showing a reduction from the week of last year of 13.9 per cent, the sharpest drop thus far. There was some gain over the previous week, however, which included the July 4 holiday. The reduction from last year shown by the preceding two weeks, taken together because the holiday week in an earlier comparable week last year, was 12.8 per cent. The latest statistics showed that the drop in Oklahoma crude output last week had been offset by gains elsewhere, notably California, so that output in the aggregate was barely changed.

The "Iron Age" weekly statistics pointed out that the U. S. Steel's purchase of 25,000 tons of heavy melting steel scrap, the largest such purchase made during the depression, was viewed as possibly significant. Input production held at 16 per cent of capacity.

Among the first of the leading industrial reports to report its second quarter earnings was General Electric, which showed 11 cents a share earned, or 1 cent more than the recently reduced dividend. This was less than the 16 cents a share shown for the first quarter. In common with many leading industries, however, this corporation maintained its strong financial position, with cash and marketable securities on June 30 in the aggregate of $11,674,000.

FOREIGN MARKETS AT A GLANCE

LONDON, July 20.—The Stock Exchange started cheerful with moderate rises in gilt-edged securities and gold mine shares but unfavorable German and Italian news caused dullness in prices with weakness in German bonds caused the market to close uncertain.

PARIS, July 20.—Prices on the Bourse were unsettled owing to the increased influence of German developments. Under the lead of French rentier prices dropped in all sections, the closing being heavy.

BERLIN, July 20.—Traders on the Bourse took the political developments quietly but the public held aloof. Firmness in the quotation abroad for the mark produced a closed market with fractional changes.

Gold Stock Changes. By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, July 20.—The gold statement of the New York gold reserve bank showed a net gain of $26,000 through release of metal from foreign earmark. There were no imports or exports.

the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, July 21.—The Interstate Commerce Commission today approved plans of the four principal Eastern trunk-line railroads for consolidation of all roads north of the Mississippi River and south of the Ohio River and the North Carolina State line, with certain modifications.

The four-system plan, presented by the principal Eastern roads on Oct. 1, 1931, grouped all roads under the Baltimore & Ohio, the Chesapeake & Ohio, the Pennsylvania and the New York Central Railway. The commission modified its consolidation plan of 1929 by completely eliminating the Washington-Seaboard system; allocated entire property of the Chicago, Annapolis & Louisville Railroad to the Atlantic Coast Line and the Chesapeake & Ohio system; Chicago, Indianapolis & Louisville, also known as the Monon, allocated under the original plan partly to the Baltimore & Ohio, the Baltimore & Ohio in the four system scheme sought only a share of the Monon.

New, Independent System.

The commission decision created independent system built around Delaware and Hudson Railroad. Certain of its short line companies. This system will be composed of the Delaware and Hudson, the Greenwich and Johnsons Bay Railroad Co., the Schoharie and Delaware Railroad Co., the Charlotte and Delaware Railroad Co., the Lake Erie and Moriah Railroad Co., the Erie and Hudson River Railroad, an undivided two-thirds interest in the Troy Union Railroad Co., and a one-half interest in the Wilkes-Barre Connecting Railroad Co.

The plan also includes unallocated property of the Seaboard Airline Railroad Co. and a number of short-line railroads which should go with

The record," said the commission, "is particularly complete and warrants us in definitely recommending those properties at this time we shall leave them for the benefit of an independent system."

— N. Y. C.

The Virginian, however, which is a bone of contention between Virginia cities and the State, and the railroads, is allocated to the State. The Central Railroad, which had sought to allocate the Virginia half and half to the Pennsylvania and the Chesapeake & Ohio, and the Delaware & Hudson River, is a victory for the Federal controls the system. "His representatives at the hearings into the matter insisted that the Delaware & Hudson, and not content with the inclusion in the system, and created the independent system

The commission decision shifts New England gateway lines which were a source of considerable opposition on the part of New England interests including the governors of five states.

Some Other Shifts.
The New York, Ontario & Western, which is a link between Ontario, New York, on Lake Ontario, and Boston in connection with the Haven system, was left by the omission with the New Haven. had been sought to make this a part of the New York Central, The Lehigh & Hudson River Railroad, which originally was allocated to one of the New England lines, is changed to the Baltimore and Ohio.

The Delaware & Hudson was the er bridge line and the commis-has made it independent.
Must Dispose of Stock.
 The Lehigh and New England, which reaches into the Southern thoracic field of Pennsylvania and connects with the New Haven Maybrook, N. J., is divided ally between the four systems.
 The commission directed that
